Military Crushes Revolt in Greece

Constantine Flees; Army Is in Control

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's military regime crushed today the last remnants of a counter-coup led by King Constantine and began a roundup of suspected royalist officers and rightist politicians.

The king, stripped of his powers and replaced by a regent, Lt. Gen. George Zolotas, fled to Rome with his family. He made no immediate comment.

Col. George Papadopoulos, strong man of the military regime and new premier, announced in a broadcast that Lt. Gen. George Zolotas, undersecretary of national defense, had been installed as regent.

Papadopoulos later told reporters the constitutional monarchy would be preserved and the king had voluntarily surrendered his functions.

Papadopoulos said the military government knew nothing in advance of the king's intentions Wednesday when he broadcast an appeal to Greeks to oust the military government and restore freedom.

'Enlighten Him'

"And I admit that had we known of his plans we would have tried at the very last minute to enlighten him and prevent him from going astray," he added. "The whole action is inconceivable to us."

Greeks learned for the first time late in the day that their king had fled. Papadopoulos' news conference was broadcast by Athens radio reporting the royal family, Premier Constantine Kollias and some officers had flown secretly to Rome.

Less than 24 hours after Constantine called Wednesday on his people to revolt against the ruling colonels in Athens, troops and armored carriers that had ringed the junta headquarters in the Parliament building were removed. However, armed guards continued to stand out.

Social Security

12 Senators OK Bill, Start Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate unexpectedly passed the Social Security bill at the start of today's Senate session, then after an angry flareup, reconsidered its action and set a vote on passage for 11 a.m. Friday.

The passage meant opponents of welfare provisions in the bill had lost a chance to engage in a filibuster that might have prevented passage of the bill at this session of Congress or at least delayed adjournment beyond this week.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the deputy Democratic leader, maneuvered the bill to passage shortly after the Senate met with only a dozen senators present.

However, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield protested strongly that the rights of individual senators had been disregarded.

Mansfield said the bill had been passed and sent to the White House "like a flash of lightning" before he could get to the Senate chamber.

He asked unanimous consent to have approval of the bill reconsidered. Long objected, saying he had learned from experience that "if you have a filibuster on your hands, you better break it when you can."

Allows Motion

In the face of Mansfield's continuing appeals, however, Long said he was willing to have a motion entered to reconsider the vote by which the bill had been passed.

In doing so, he noted he would be in position at any time to table the motion to reconsider. Thus he would be able to cut off any filibuster since the motion would not be debatable.

Only after agreement was reached to vote at 11 a.m. Friday did he consent to have the passage of the bill rescinded and set for a second vote.

Mansfield told the Senate Long's action in getting the bill passed at the start of today's session was wholly within the rules and procedures of the Senate. But he said it raised serious questions as to the rights of individual senators.

Kennedy Opposed

Principal opposition to the welfare provisions had been voiced by Sens. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. Neither was on the floor at the time of passage.

The House okayed the compromise Wednesday on a 388-3 vote after a Senate-House conference committee restored welfare-lightening provisions. The Senate had previously voted to junk or liberalize these provisions as well as to raise Social Security cash benefits.

As passed by the House, the bill would raise benefits for all recipients by at least 13 percent. The monthly minimum would go from $44 to $55 and the maximum would go from $142 to $160.50. And a recipient with a wife 65 or over would get a 50 per cent increase in the basic payment.

Once the full effect of the bill is accomplished over several years, a retired couple could get as much as $323 a month.

$52.80 Increase

Social Security taxes also would go up, with a maximum increase of $52.80 year for those earning more than $6,600. The taxes would be upped the same amounts for employers and there would be additional increases for both in future years.

The increased benefits for 24 million Americans on Social Security rolls would be effective with checks received next March 3.

Kennedy and Harris contended in debate Wednesday that the proposed welfare limitations would mean some needy children and their parents would be denied aid. They said many mothers would be forced to put their children into day care centers and go to work.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Platoon Sgt. Hubert C. Carter of Milwaukee was killed in recent Vietnam action, the Defense Department has announced.

German Reunification, Greek Problems Under NATO Study

BRUSSELS (AP) — Representatives of 15 allied nations pledged today to speed efforts for German reunification within a Europe made safer by security agreements with Russia.

Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization also ordered a special study of the military situation on their southeastern flank—the Mediterranean—where a big Soviet naval buildup is under way and where the latest Greek crisis threatens to split the alliance.

In a declaration on the future

tasks of their 19-year-old alliance the ministers undertook to speed work on practical measures of East-West arms affairs, "including the possibility of balanced force reductions" in Europe.

Their annual stocktaking session ended after key ministers managed in dramatic backstage consultations to head off full-scale discussions of the Greek crisis—a discussion that could have split NATO.

Postpone Issue

Denmark's Foreign Minister Hans Tabor was under domestic pressure to express his country's disapproval of the Greek military regime, but Foreign Secretary George Brown of Britain persuaded him to hold off raising the issue pending clarification of the situation in Athens.

Secretary-General Manlio Brosio said, however, that some muted expressions of concern were heard within the NATO Council. But he added most of the real discussion of the Greek crisis took place in conference corridors. NATO, by its rules, is bound to keep out of the internal affairs of its member states, he added.

But Brown reportedly assured Tabor that should the crisis call for special allied examination he might be prepared to associate Britain with any Danish move in this direction.

The military regime in Greece has been of constant concern to Socialist governments of the alliance, which take the view that it is following policies inconsistent with NATO aims and purposes. Both Denmark and Britain are under Socialist regimes.

The NATO treaty proclaims the determination of member governments "to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of their peoples, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law."

Will Stay on Until Spring

Pearson Plans to Quit As Canadian Premier

OTTAWA (AP) — Lester B. Pearson announced today his resignation as leader of the Liberal party, paving the way for selection of a new prime minister to succeed him.

The party expects to hold a leadership convention next spring. In the meantime Pearson stays on in both jobs.

Under Canadian procedure, the leader of the dominant party ordinarily becomes prime minister.

National Election

The Liberals could call a national election under their new leadership. Pearson was reinstalled in 1965. The nominal term of office is five years, but elections are often called before this term expires.

Several members of Pearson's Cabinet have been mentioned as aspirants to the leadership, including Paul Martin, Mitchell Sharp and Paul Hellyer.

Pearson is 70. He told a news conference that this is "an appropriate time" for him to step down.

He had written Sen. John Nichol, president of the Liberal Federation of Canada, asking him to organize a national leadership convention.

137 Years of Greek History

Monarchy, Plebiscite, Civil War

By ANDREW TORCHIA
Associated Press Writer

The Greek monarchy was born 137 years ago when the leading powers of Europe created it and made a foreigner king. For 15 of the years since, the monarchy was abolished, and King Constantine II is the fourth ruler to be ousted by a military coup.

Except for the first king, a Bavarian, all the Greek monarchs have been descendants of the Danish royal family. Constantine's wife, Anne-Marie, was a Danish princess before marriage.

Turks Ousted

Constantine and his family fled to Rome today, and the military dictatorship which took over Greece last April 21 named Lt. Gen. George Zolotas regent, the title usually given to someone who rules for an incapacitated monarch or for a minor until he is of age to assume the throne.

The junta's appointment of a regent could mean it ostensibly is holding the throne for Constantine's seven-month-old son, Crown Prince Paul.

The Greek monarchy was created in 1830 when the Ottoman Turks were ousted from Greece and the country became a protectorate of European powers.

The powers installed Otho, a young Bavarian prince, as king. An army coup in 1862 removed him and civil war followed. In a plebiscite, the Greeks chose Prince Alfred, a son of Queen Victoria of Britain, as their next king. But Russia and France objected, and young Prince William of Denmark was made King George I of Greece in 1863.

King George reigned for nearly 50 years until his assassination in 1913—the longest period of stability the monarchy has known. Constantine I, his son and a victorious general in a Balkan war the year before, succeeded him.

Public opposition to his pro-German views forced Constantine I to abdicate during World War I. A son, Alexander, was crowned but lived only three more years.

Constantine returned as king after a plebiscite, but a disastrous military campaign against Turkey led to an army coup that ousted him and raised George II, another son, to the throne.

Greek Republic

Still another coup followed. Plebiscites in 1924 and 1935 created and ended a Greek republic. Then George II returned, this time with rightist Gen. John Metaxas as his supporter and strongman.

Metaxas died fighting the Germans in World War II and the king went into exile. Resistance to the Nazis was left largely to Communists and other anti-monarchist groups.

After the war, sentiment against the return of King George grew among Greek leftists. Then a four-year civil war with the Communists broke out. In a plebiscite from which the Communists abstained, King George was invited back to the throne for the third time.

He died in 1947 and his brother Paul became king. Paul and Queen Frederika, a German princess who as Queen Mother is still disliked by some Greeks, survived a clash with Premier Constantine Caramanlis in 1963 over a royal trip to Britain. Caramanlis resigned when the king refused to cancel the visit because of demonstrations by Greek exiles.

A year later, Paul died after an operation for a stomach ulcer. His 23-year-old son, Constantine II, became the world's youngest reigning monarch.

Saigon Won't Talk To Viet Cong Alone

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government said today it would refuse to take part in a United Nations debate on Vietnam if the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front is asked to participate as a separate group.

A foreign office statement said the government would only participate in a debate including Vietnamese Communists if North Vietnam represented the Communist side. The statement said the National Liberation Front could be part of the North Vietnamese delegation.

Neither North Vietnam, South Vietnam nor the NLF are U.N. members, although South Vietnam has an observer.

The statement reiterated the South Vietnamese position that the NLF is directed by North Vietnam and that Saigon, as an elected government could not talk with it.

North Vietnam's position, recently reiterated, is that "the Vietnamese people have many times clearly stated that the United Nations has no right whatsoever to interfere in Vietnam."

It said recently President Johnson was trying to bring the Vietnam question before the United Nations "to cope with public opinion in the world and even in the United States, which has been sternly protesting the U.S. war of aggression."

Republican Governors Not Sure About Nixon

Big State Leaders Feel Rockefeller Has Best Chance to Win Presidency

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

PALM BEACH, Fla. — The problem Richard M. Nixon still faces with the Republican governors was underlined at their semi-annual meeting here last week by backstage activities of Nixon operatives and of Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio. ka's dynamic new governor who believes Nixon the Republican best qualified to be president. Tiemann is growing closer to Nixon after paying a recent visit to him in New York, yet even Tiemann suspects that the strongest Republican candidate would be Rockefeller.

Seek Stronger Position

This attitude becomes greatly magnified in the private conversations of big state governors — such as one huddle here between Rhodes and Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania, who will control around 110 delegates between them. Despite long wooing from Nixon, Shafer — like Rhodes — is clearly not convinced Nixon is a winner.

Thus, the fact that Shafer (at Rhodes' urging) was proposed by the governors here as co-chairman of the convention platform committee could be significant. At least among big state governors, decisions here to insinuate the governors into platform-writing for once reflect determination to influence all aspects of the convention including selection of the nominee.

The real story of Palm Beach, then, is not that Republican governors failed to rally around a single candidate, which was never remotely possible. Rather it is that most are determined to influence the convention. Front-running Nixon may well wrap it up against Romney in the primaries no matter what the big state Governors say. But so far, those governors are not willing to concede that.

Prefer Rockefeller

Rhodes, notoriously mercurial, may not follow through if Nixon's bandwagon gets rolling faster. But he is not alone. A heavy majority of the 26 Republican governors still prefer Rockefeller for president. Moreover, the big state governors who, like Rhodes, will control their convention delegations are not ready to accept the inevitability of Nixon.

Nobody understands this better than Nixon and his politically astute lieutenants. That's why they were determined to prevent a recurrence at Palm Beach of what happened the last time. Republican governors got together. At the national governors conference aboard the S.S. Independence in October, Nixon's name was scarcely mentioned. Former Gov. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, his national chairman, was aboard but seemed timid about lobbying his former colleagues.

In contrast, Bellmon last week was accompanied by five staffers from Nixon-for-President headquarters and none seemed shy about pushing his product. Recognizing that the governors comprise the element of the party least friendly to Nixon, they quietly conducted what one neutral party professional called a "Nixon blitz."

Consider the approaches to one liberal governor who favors Rockefeller. Prior to leaving for Palm Beach he received a letter from a pro-Nixon liberal in his state urging him not to join any "cabal" against a Nixon victorious in the primaries.

At Palm Beach this governor was visited by Nixon's top lieutenants, Bellmon and former Representative Robert Ellsworth of Kansas. The message was identical to that contained in the letter even the word "cabal."

Nevertheless this governor made no promises whatever to Nixon. Indeed, the "Nixon blitz" seemed to gain more ground among newsmen here than among the governors in a secondary achievement of considerable importance: Nixon enthusiasm among the governors remains minimal.

The resistance Nixon faces from the governors is less a matter of ideology than of practical politics. They do not yet believe Nixon can capitalize on the great Republican opportunity in 1968 and this doubt extends even to those few governors in Nixon's corner.

Police to Aid Search for Missing Man

William Mollett, 75, Reportedly Seen Late Sunday Night

Appleton police Wednesday asked for assistance in locating a 75-year-old man who has been missing from home since Sunday afternoon.

Police identified the missing man as William Mollett, 1009 W. Wisconsin Ave. His family last saw him, police said, when he left home about 5 p.m. to pick up a prescription at a neighborhood drug store. Police learned that he was at the drug store.

Police checked with the man's relatives and conducted an extensive search of the neighborhood. They said the man is 5 feet, 8 inches tall, bald, and was last seen wearing a red and black checked jacket, green trousers, and a cap. He wears glasses. Mollett reportedly is in good health.

Since the alert was broadcast Wednesday morning, three persons have notified police they believed they saw Mollett. An Appleton woman said she saw a man fitting his description walking west on U.S. 10, near U.S. 45, about 7 p.m. Sunday. A Medina man told police he saw Mollett walking west on 10, just east of Medina, about 9 p.m. Sunday.

A southside Appleton woman said she saw a man fitting his description walking on S. Douglas Street, near Eighth Street, Tuesday morning.

Walking Good Activity
For Varicose Veins

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 58 and have varicose veins. I wear supporting hosiery which helps. I would also like to take a walk every day, but do not know whether this would benefit or harm me. — Mrs. S.G.

Walking — and the muscular activity — promotes circulation; therefore it will benefit rather than harm your varicose veins. The supportive hose is a helpful protection.

You will note, and the booklet will make this clearer to you, that there is a vast difference between walking and merely standing.

While the blood pressure originating in the heart's action is the major force causing the blood to circulate, movement of the muscles also helps to keep the blood circulating by a sort of massage effect. This is one of the several reasons why daily exercise is good for us.

But merely standing still is not exercise in the sense that walking is, and the person with varicose veins should try to avoid standing motionless. If it is necessary to stand up for many hours, as, for one example, standing at a counter in a store, the leg muscles should be kept as active as reasonably possible. Moving just a few steps this way and that is, to some extent, an equivalent of walking. Flexing the muscles, moving the feet, even wiggling the toes means that there is movement in the leg muscles and it helps.

I'm not what you would call an exercise hound but I do strongly endorse activity. It needn't be particularly strenuous, but an effort to get some daily activity — and walking is excellent — is good for all of us.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 12½ and 5 feet 7 and weigh 190 pounds. Every time I put food in my mouth my Dad yells about "calories." I have tried about six diets but they don't work. What can I do? — O.W.

Yelling won't do any good — even though it's true that too many calories is what made you so fat. Ask Dad to take you to your doctor: let him prescribe a diet that will be enough to keep you healthy but not add any more fat. If you agree to eat what is on the diet — and nothing else! — I imagine that Dad will agree not to say anything about calories. You have to make up your mind to lose weight and to change your eating habits. Failure with six diets implies you haven't tried very hard with any of them.

Dear Dr. Molner: My little girl, 5, has had kidney infections. The doctor said little girls should not use bubbles in their bath because the "bubble stuff" can cause infections. Why? — J.J.S.

I don't think a bubble bath is the guilty factor in urinary infections. It is true, of course, that little girls are readily subject to urinary infections, but the risk is rather that the bath water itself can be contaminated with germs. In such instances, showers are better.

Note to WORRIED Maybe it's "just a rash," but under the circumstances obviously it may be syphilis. You're old enough to go to the doctor by yourself. Yes, the doctor is required to report the case but your name will be kept confidential. Reporting is necessary both to give some idea of the prevalence of the disease, and to protect others who may have been exposed. If you get treatment now, there is no reason why you should not have children later.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Molner's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Board Standards

SALEM, Conn. (AP) — "Modify your hair style in a manner acceptable to the board," wrote the School Board to the teacher last month.

Either drop the subject or "request my resignation because of my haircut," said teacher Jonathan W. Andrews to the board.

Andrews wears his thick black hair long. It curls slightly over his shirt collar. "Shaggy," says a board member.

Andrews must resign, effective July 1, the board ruled this week, because it "does not feel his appearance is becoming to his profession."

Andrews, a fifth grade teacher in Salem for four years, has discussed his hair with the board for the past two.

Second OAS Fund Probe to Organize

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A second congressional subcommittee will join a growing list of probes into reported financial irregularities within the Organization of American States.

Reports of alleged mismanagement of OAS money in Washington come amid announcements of OAS money irregularities abroad, the firing of a top Washington OAS official for alleged political interference and a deadlock over selection of a new secretary general.

Sources cite a bizarre liquor-buying incident prior to this year's Latin American summit meeting and hint of other alleged misdoings.

A report on a special $20,000 audit of OAS financial management—paid for by the United States—is expected in mid-February but U.S. Ambassador Sol M. Linowitz says it's not aimed at the reports of irregularities.

The House Inter-American Affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Armistead I. Selden Jr., D-Ala., called Linowitz to testify Tuesday on what he knew about the reports. Linowitz said after the closed meeting no specific clues have come to light.

Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., whose House Appropriations subcommittee approves U.S. funds for international organizations, told a reporter Wednesday that OAS and its administrative arm, the Pan American Union, will get special scrutiny at budget hearings expected in about six to eight weeks.

The United States supplies 66 per cent of the OAS budget—$11.4 billion in the current fiscal year.

Secretary-General Jose A. Mora, whose term expires next May, told Monday night of these actions:

Director Fired
—The firing of Director Julio Cesar Banzas of the Pan American Union office in Buenos Aires "after a thorough investigation revealed the misuse of funds contributed by the Argentine government to the National Committee on the Alliance for Progress and which he received as a member of that committee," Mora said OAS funds were not involved.

—Transfer of Jose Salinas, Pan American Union office director in San Jose, Costa Rica, to Washington after numerous overdrafts in accounts. Mora said a probe is under way to determine if any money was misused.

—Instigation of an audit of OAS activities in the Dominican Republic which Mora said were being financed from the unspecified remnants of $57 million contributed by the U.S. Agency for International Development after the Dominican crisis of April 1965. Sources indicated very small sums were involved.

Staff Involved
The liquor incident described by sources involved perhaps 100 or more OAS staff personnel who flew to Punta del Este, Uruguay, for the Latin summit conference last April 12-14.

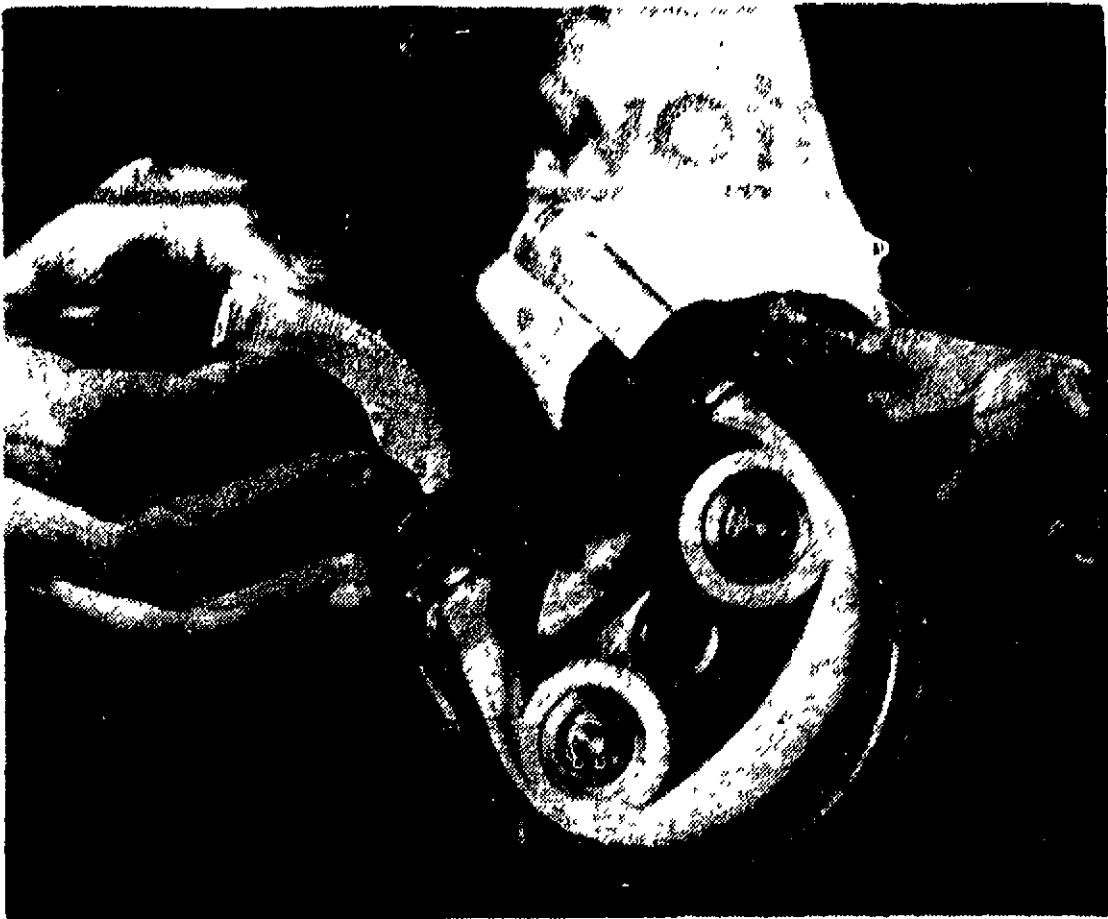

Each staff member was given money along with his airline ticket to buy three bottles of Scotch whisky at the tax-free sales room in Kennedy International Airport, New York.

The whisky was destined for an OAS reception at the conference, but the reception never was held. At the last minute, sources said, the OAS staff held its own party with the OAS-financed liquor.

The OAS director of administrative affairs, Luis Raul Betances, was fired from his $19,000-a-year Washington job by Mora earlier this month.

Betances allegedly tried to influence the vote of the Dominican representative in balloting for a new secretary general.

The voting is deadlocked and no new ballot is expected before mid-January.

Heart Assisting Device Developed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says an artificial heart machine has been developed which may soon be implanted in the chest of a patient threatened with heart failure.

The heart-assisting device is almost ready for human use, researchers said Wednesday, but they didn't specify how soon.

Dr. Lester Goodman of the Public Health Service told a news conference the implantation factor marks a big advance. He said the device has been implanted so far only in calves and further development will be carried out.

The government officials said the new machine has several advantages over a heart-assisting device developed by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey of Methodist Hospital in Houston, Tex. But they called DeBakey's machine a breakthrough, adding, "We aren't calling this a breakthrough."

Eliminate Clotting
Marshall Turner, a mechanical engineer who built the machine, said another key advantage is that it provides a smooth flow of blood. He said this should eliminate blood clots, the main problem of DeBakey's pulsating machine.

Turner said his machine would be capable of doing all

Waukesha Man Dies Of Crash Injuries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The death of a Waukesha man has sent Wisconsin's 1967 highway toll to 1,066, compared with 1,060 on this date one year ago.

Edward J. Whelan, 46, of Waukesha, died Wednesday of injuries suffered Saturday in a collision on State 11 about three miles east of Elkhorn, Walworth County.

3 Escapees Recaptured

Trio Charged With Bank Robbery Found In Milwaukee Flat

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee police went to a rooming house on the Near West Side Wednesday night and recaptured three men who escaped from the Ozaukee County jail the previous night while awaiting trial on federal charges of bank robbery.

Police said they encountered no resistance as they entered an apartment occupied by a friend of the trio and his wife. Authorities said they went to the rooming house on the basis of information obtained in a check of the men's known hangouts and acquaintances.

The captured escapees are Donald Crisp, 22; Harold Timm, 27, and John Kwitek, 23, all of Milwaukee. They are charged with the $24,662 robbery of the Bank of Greenfield, on the southwestern edge of Milwaukee, last July 26.

Harboring Charge
Police said the male occupant of the apartment where the three were arrested would be charged with harboring escaped prisoners.

Authorities said the three escaped the jail in Port Washington Tuesday evening after beating the jailer, James Watry, 28, when he entered the cell area to investigate a report of plumbing trouble.

Watry was released Wednesday from a hospital in Port Washington after treatment for injuries to the head and face.

Federal charges of escape were filed against the trio after their jailbreak.

Police said the three would be transferred to custody of U.S. Marshal James H. Dillon

Car Safety Checks, Patrol Increase Backed by Compromise Committee

MADISON (AP) — A special Legislative Committee, working to patch differences between the Senate and Assembly on highway safety, agreed Wednesday on random vehicle safety inspections and a 75-man increase in the State Highway Patrol.

Both issues were hotly debated by the lawmakers earlier in the session, but the Senate and Assembly were unable to agree on the details of either proposal.

The committee, composed of three members of each house, was appointed to find a solution to the impasse.

The only vote against the compromise proposal was made by Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, who said the State Patrol increase was too small to handle enforcement of the measure.

The bill also seeks to establish a pilot program in two areas of the state for voluntary inspections for motorists who request them.

The location of the voluntary program will be selected later by the State Division of Motor Vehicles, but a spokesman said one would be a rural area and the other urban.

The Senate version of the original bill contained the provision for voluntary safety checks to be conducted by private garages.

The Assembly argued against allowing private garages to conduct inspections.

The compromise measure also states that 18 of the additional 75 patrolmen would join with 36 special state inspectors to operate the random safety checks.

The compromise measure will now be redrafted in its final form for introduction into the two houses. The lawmakers must then either approve or reject the measure as written.

The effective date of the bill would be July 1, 1968.

side defense headquarters on the outskirts of the capital.

Military units in northern Greece had been reported siding with the king, but the only reported fighting on the mainland was at Elefsis air force base southwest of Athens. Two army captains attempting to board a plane there for northern Greece were reported shot by troops loyal to the government, and clashes between air force and army units followed. Two buildings caught fire in the fighting.

Fighting on Crete
Fighting also was reported on the Greek island of Crete, scene of the only armed resistance to the junta's takeover eight months ago.

Reports said the king was with the 3rd Armored Army Corps, based in the north, when he appealed to the nation to rebel. Athens Radio said today the commander of the corps, Gen. George Peridis, was among three army generals arrested by the junta.

Widespread arrests of right-wing politicians also were reported in Athens.

The capital was calm today, and people hurried to work as usual. But the government ordered all banks and the stock exchange closed to avert financial panic.

Reports from northern Greece were sketchy because the area was cut off from Athens by road and by telephone. But Athens Radio announced today it had restored radio communications with stations in the north.

It was not immediately known what would happen to military units—reportedly including parts of the air force—that had sided with the king. The junta was reported offering the dissident units an amnesty in an attempt to avoid bloodshed and restore unity.

Accompanies Family
Premier Constantine Kollias, the civilian government head named by the colonels who seized power last April 21, accompanied the royal family to Rome after Papadopoulos supplanted him.

Papadopoulos, the new government chief in name as well as in fact, broadcast thanks to the Greek armed forces and Greek people for standing by his government.

"You have saved Greece and its unity," he said. "You proved worthy and acted with determination that surpassed bravery."

You have protected with self-sacrifice the meaning of a true freedom and healthy democracy.

"You have succeeded in making another bloodless April 21."

The April coup caught Constantine by surprise. Although remaining as a figurehead, he made clear he regarded the junta as a disastrous stopgap.

New Constitution
Observers in London believe the timing of his attempted counter-coup was influenced by the junta's reported efforts to preserve military rule in a new draft constitution due to be announced Friday and by the recent announcement from Paris by former Premier Constantine Caramanlis that he was ready to return to Greece to head a democratic civilian government.

The king also was believed to have hoped to take advantage of widespread discontent in the army over the junta's withdrawal of about 12,000 Greek troops from Cyprus.

Puffy eyed and walking unsteadily, the king arrived in Rome in a royal plane at 4:55 a.m. With him came his 21-year-old wife Queen Anne-Maria, a former Danish princess; their two young children, Crown Prince Paul and Princess Alexandra; Queen Mother Frederika, long a center of political turmoil in Greece; Princess Irene, the king's sister, and Kollias.

The refugees went to the Greek Embassy.

New Laws Put More Pressure On Candidates

Added Signatures Needed With Less Time to Get Them

Changes in Wisconsin election laws are putting greater pressure on candidates for county offices in the number of signatures required on nomination papers and the length of time they have to obtain the needed signers.

The length of time for circulating nomination papers for the April election has been reduced from 60 days to 30 days. Papers for all offices may be taken out starting Jan. 1 and must be filed by 5 p.m. Jan. 30. Under the old law, papers could have been taken out on Dec. 1 and filed on Jan. 29.

All candidates for county supervisor posts must file their papers with the county clerk. Previously, candidates for districts in cities filed papers with the city clerk. Candidates for municipal offices will still file with the municipal clerk.

Need More Signatures

Supervisor candidates in Outagamie County will be required to

Zoning Regulations Defined

Model Floodplain Ordinance Ready

A model floodplain zoning ordinance has been prepared by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) for consideration by member governments of the regional planning group.

The model ordinance, outlined at a meeting of COG Wednesday by Associate Planner Greg Kittelson, defines zoning regulations for cities, villages and other incorporated areas. It includes resolutions governing floodplain and floodway areas along rivers within municipalities, whereas ordinances being prepared for unincorporated areas also make provisions for shoreline and conservancy district zoning along lakes and rivers.

The ordinance, which cities must adopt by early next year to meet requirements under state law 614, is designed to protect against the hazard of floods and preserve the storage capacity of floodplains and the discharge capacity of floodways.

Floodways are defined as the area around rivers needed to accommodate the flow of water during floods. The floodplain district will include land along but beyond the floodway district — in which structures would be subject to floodwaters or inundation during times of flooding.

Designed Elevations

The boundaries of the districts are determined by assigned elevations of the nearest downstream dams. The floodplain district will extend horizontally according to the normal maximum elevation of the dam plus one foot.

Permitted uses in the floodway district include piers, wharves, channels and other aids to navigation. Special exceptions will include bridges, culverts, river crossings of transmission lines, buildings and other structures, and storage of materials necessary for the operation of activities necessary to a waterfront location, provided they are not a pollution or other hazard during floods.

The permitted uses in floodplain areas may not include storage of materials that are buoyant, flammable, explosive or otherwise dangerous to human, animal or plant life.

Floodproofing also will be required of all structures located within the floodplain. Conforming to this regulation can include raising the ground level of the structure, modifying the structure to prevent entrance of floodwaters, or erecting floodwalls to prevent flood waters from entering the structure.

Special Exceptions

Floodplain structures also must have water supply and waste treatment systems that are not subject to floodwater entrance, and provisions for removal of structure and contents in time of flooding.

Special exceptions in the floodplain district include structures provided with fill or other flood protecting methods where the area involved is more than 10,000 feet, and storage of materials that may be injurious to human, animal or plant life during flooding but which are enclosed in floodproofed structures.

A permit issued for special exceptions will require the owner to apply to the building inspector. A board of appeals will then evaluate the request on the basis of floodplain and floodway requirements before issuing a special permit.

The appeals board also may attach specific conditions to the permit that must be followed. Information must be supplied by the owner on the structure and land use areas involved, and a public hearing will be required before a permit can be issued.

Kittelson said the provisions are mainly a protection to property owners against flooding and pollution resulting from flooding.

Maps to accompany the ordinance and designating floodplain and floodway areas will also be prepared by the COG staff.

Air Wisconsin Given Permission For New Service

The Illinois Commission of Commerce today issued a certificate of convenience to Air Wisconsin authorizing the firm to start scheduled airline service between the Kankakee Valley Airport and Chicago's O'Hare Field.

The service will start Jan. 1 with four flights daily, according to Preston Wilbourne, Air Wisconsin vice president and general manager. Flights to Milwaukee and Wausau also start then.

Wilbourne said an additional airplane has been added so the expansion will not interfere with the 16 daily flights between Appleton and Chicago.

Outagamie Trustee Report Recovery Stressed in County Mental Hospital

The changing concept of county mental hospitals is reflected in the 1967 annual report of Outagamie County Hospital and Golden Age Home trustees, with greater stress being placed on rehabilitation of patients capable of recovery and return to their families.

The trustees noted that "county mental hospitals can no longer be considered a 'dumping ground' for mental patients from the state institutions."

During the fiscal year, which ended June 30, the county hospital had 37 admissions, of which only five were over the age of 65. Eighteen were under the age of 40, indicating more patients are being sent to the county hospital for initial treatment.

With the increase in emphasis on follow-up programs for patients released from the hospital, none of the 35 patients released during the year returned to the hospital.

Per capita cost at the hospital increased slightly to $44.38 per week, 10 cents per week less than the state average.

At the Golden Age Home, the per capita weekly cost increased to $83.22. Major factors cited in both cost increases were salary increases and increase in price of drugs and outside medical services.

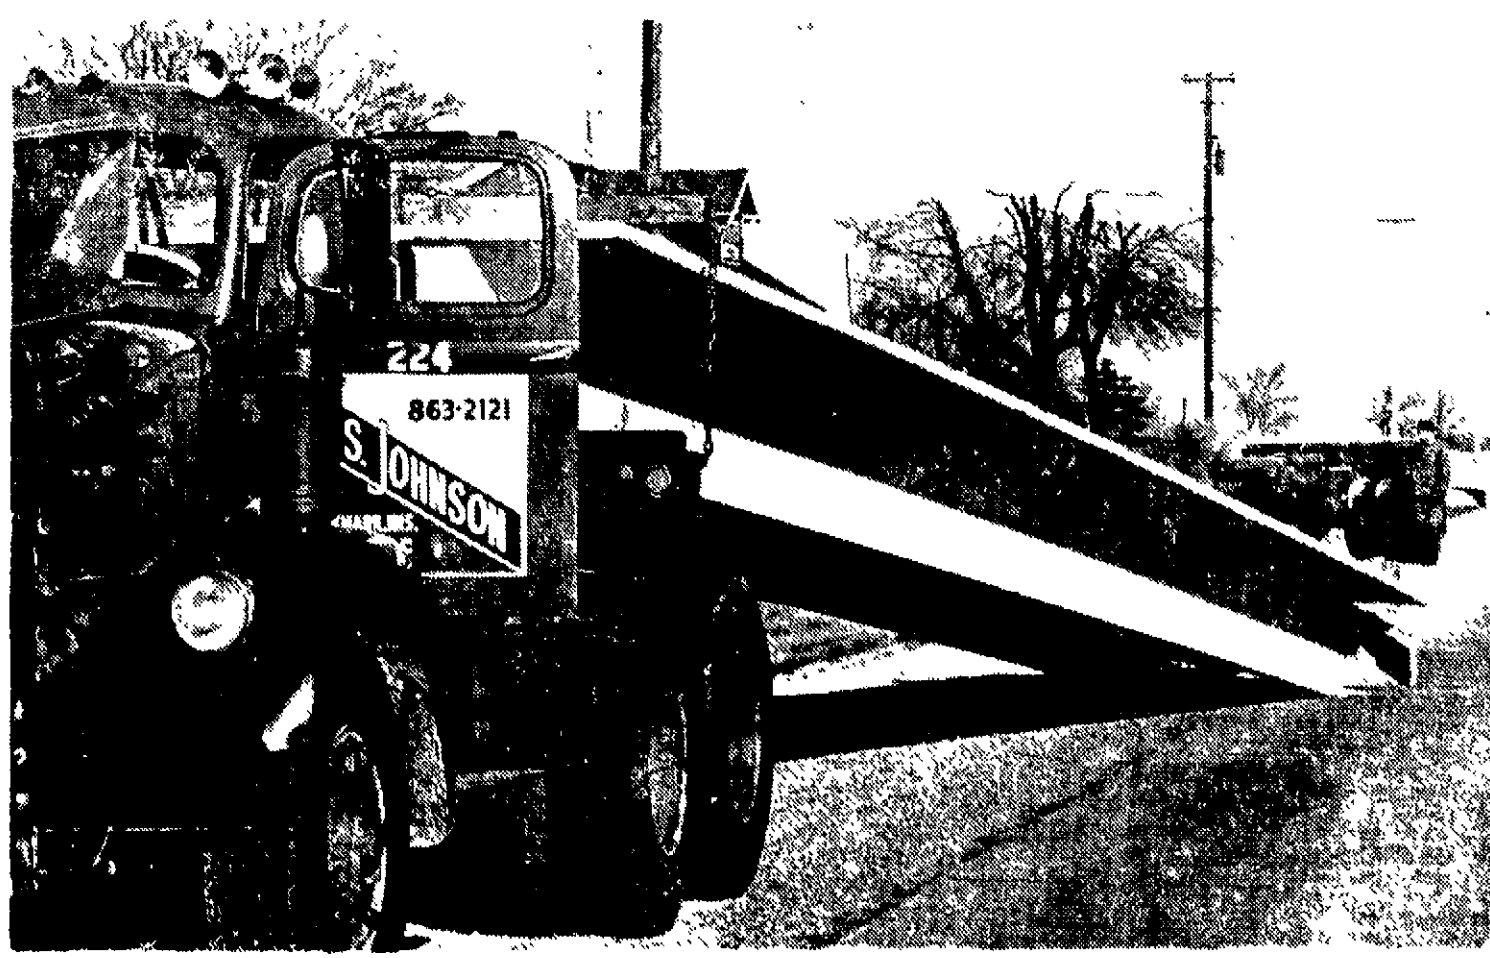

Menasha Library Tells Holiday Hours

COG Approves Application For Sanitary Plan Funds

Kampo in Opposition To Request

BY FRANK CHURCH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Town of Menasha's Roland Kampo cast the only dissenting vote Wednesday as the Fox Valley Council of Governments approved applications for federal funds to develop a plan for water and sewage disposal needs in the Fox Cities.

Total cost for the program will be approximately $208,000, which is $17,000 less than the $225,000 originally planned for the study.

The applications approved Wednesday are to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) for a $38,370 study of solid waste disposal needs, and to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for a $160,000-$170,000 study of other water and disposal needs in the area.

HEW will furnish two thirds, or $25,500, of the funds for the solid waste study, while HUD will be asked to furnish $107,000 for the other study. Local shares will be $12,790 and $54,000 respectively.

Cart Before Horse

"We're putting the cart before the horse again," Kampo said before a vote was taken on the application to HEW. "We're going ahead with a study, and no one here knows where it's going."

Mayor Kenneth Holmes of Menasha said the study was being undertaken so the member governments can determine where they are going.

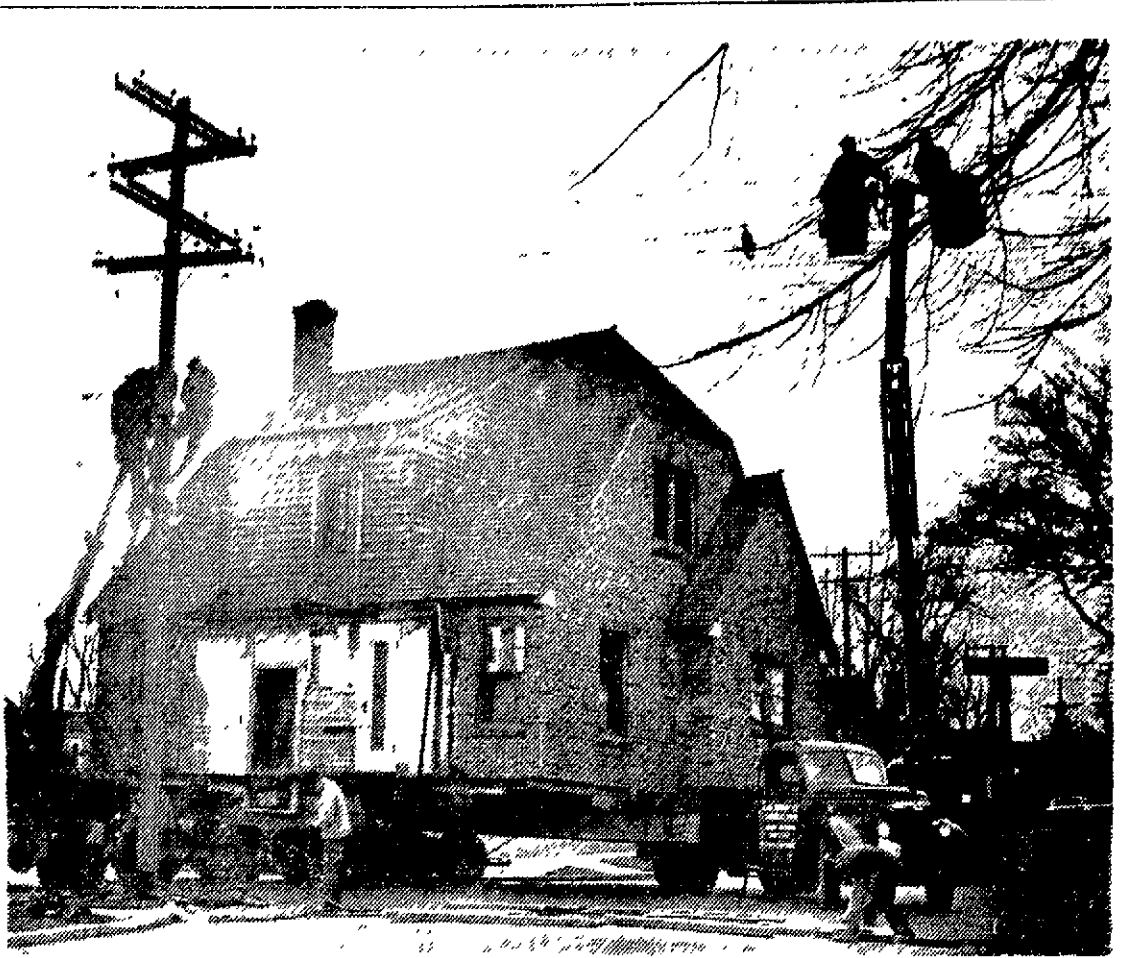

"How are we going to know what we'll do until we have the results of the study showing us what we can do?" Holmes asked Kampo.

"I'm not about to get involved unless we have an understanding on what we are going to do," Kampo countered.

Mayor Holmes answered, "I might even be on your side after the study is completed. But right now, how can I know until the study is made."

Trade Winds in New York Camper Line Unveiled

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Modern camping trailers, constructed by Trade Winds Co., Inc., Manawa, received their "first real exposure" in a large-scale promotion Wednesday afternoon as newsmen from major national magazines and newspapers viewed three models as a press showing at Tavern on the Green in Central Park.

The press showing was organized through Outboard Marine Corporation, new owner of Trade Winds and manufacturer of Johnson and Evinrude outboard motors.

This type of exposure to the publicity potential of New York was the first by a camper manufacturer, according to Tom Johnson, OMC promoter, and it was geared to show Trade Wind's answer to the new approach in the camping field.

Garden and other nationally distributed magazines.

Newspapers represented included the Boston Globe, Newark Evening News, The New York Times, Newark Star-Ledger, New York Daily News and others.

Three Models Shown

Three models were displayed at the four-hour press show and luncheon. They were the Tahiti, lowest priced model; Continental, medium-priced two-man unit, and the Cascade, the tip up galley with a four-burner stove, stainless steel sink, ice box and 9,000 BTU heater, and an in-doors or out-doors formica covered dinette set. The tip up galley allows the facilities on it to be used at a comfortable level.

Other innovations were the cartridge tape stereo unit and the vinyl moisture barrier at the areas where the canvas meets the metal.

New bright colors including the blue exterior, gave the display a unique contrast. Colors and color combinations at the Chicago display for OMC camper dealers drew mixed reaction, but Johnson felt that Wednesday's reaction was "good."

James Briggs, OMC vice president for non-marine products, told newsmen at the luncheon that his organization has plans for major expansion in the camping trailer business, as indicated by the development of Trade Winds' facilities since OMC's takeover.

He said that his firm, with its research capabilities, had selected Trade Winds for this camping trailer endeavor because of the Manawa company's solid organization.

Dretzke and Don Craig, engineering supervisor, developed a camper in February of 1961 and in March of that year began production. They built a plant in the fall of 1961 and began using it the next January.

Outboard Marine purchased Trade Winds last summer and since then has embarked on a major plant expansion and promotional programs.

A nine-day showing for the public is scheduled for late January in Cleveland, according to Johnson.

Everyone Gets Sun Except Us

While the sun shone on most of Wisconsin this morning, it managed to miss the Fox Cities.

Sunshine or not, there wasn't enough warmth to push the mercury above the freezing mark anywhere in the state.

Some cloudiness continued in the far northern part of the state, with the Hurley-Ironwood area reporting very light snow at mid-morning.

Superior had a frigid 4 degrees above zero during the night and still held to that level several hours later. The low at Park Falls was 9, at Eau Claire 12, Wausau 13, Lone Rock 15, Green Bay 16, Madison, Appleton and La Crosse 17, Beloit 20, Racine 21 and Milwaukee 23. There was an unofficial report of 2 below zero reading in Vilas County.

Milwaukee, Racine and the Beloit area reached the high of 35 Wednesday. Burlington set a high of 34, Madison 33 and Lone Rock, Appleton and La Crosse 31. Coldest place was Superior with 22.

Traces of snow were recorded Wednesday at Wausau, Eau Claire and Superior.

Camping Increases

The demand, according to government statistics, will reach 328 million camping days by the year 2000 compared with 140 million days by 40 million campers last year. The family-style camping boom, following the rise in boating interest, came in the early 1960's and is still on the sharp increase.

Newsmen at the New York showing included representatives of Life, True, Newsweek, Field & Stream, Look, Better Camping, Camping Industry (newly established trade magazine for the camping industry), Popular Mechanics, Camping Guide, Business Week, House & line.

Firemen Called When Hot Tar Burns Tires

The Appleton Fire Department was called to the city street department building on N. Ballard Road late Wednesday morning when hot tar fell onto tires on a tar trailer. Firemen said the tires burned.

Nursing Home Plans Asked For Elderly

County Authority Says Outagamie Facilities Essential

Future planning for the care of elderly citizens in nursing home-type facilities in Outagamie County has been termed essential by Dr. John G. Russo, superintendent and medical director for Riverview Sanatorium and geriatric hospital.

"Long range development requires that the future needs of the elderly citizens of Outagamie County be met," Dr. Russo said in his annual report on the institution. He added that "we are still concerned about the old section of our institution. Renovating this part of the building is too costly, therefore, careful review of our future facilities is urgent."

He reported that in the last fiscal year, which ended June 30, the number of patient weeks in the geriatric hospital increased from 1,742 to 1,806. "The number of elderly patients with degenerative diseases is steadily increasing in our community," he said.

Costs Down

In the tuberculous sanatorium, the number of patient weeks nearly doubled last year, bringing the per capita cost down to $118.35, compared to the state average of $180.

A total of 24 patients with tuberculous were admitted to the sanatorium during the year with six of these being readmissions. Nearly half of the cases involved persons between the ages of 45 and 64. The admissions were evenly divided between men and women.

State Party Chiefs Battle Over Taxes

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Taxation and government spending inspired the chairmen of the state's two political parties to strive hardest Wednesday night to keep credit and pass blame — probably telegraphing where their parties will be aiming some of their hardest blows in the next elections.

Given a three-legged debate format with highway safety, urban problems and taxation as the topics they were to discuss, Republican Ody J. Fish and Democrat Richard Cudahy zeroed in on tax problems for their most vigorous arguments. Cudahy declared the subject would be "one of the most important issues" in next year's election campaigns.

Sharing the speaking platform as guests of the Wisconsin State University — Oshkosh Young Democrats and Young Republicans in what is becoming a yearly debate, Cudahy and Fish also hit on several other issues briefly and fielded several questions from an audience numbering around 40 and consisting largely of students.

But, both speakers returned repeatedly to tax-spending issues. Fish maintained that the Republican administration of Gov. Warren Knowles has been able to do its job with a balanced budget and without increasing state taxes.

Cudahy replied that the state government was holding its tax rates level by refusing to share the burden of rising costs of local government, thereby forcing property tax rates in local communities to climb.

He added charges that federal aid programs and nationwide prosperity also helped account for greater revenues to state coffers without a tax increase.

Fish, who was first to speak, anticipated part of Cudahy's argument by reciting a lengthy list of statistics on shared aid funds distributed locally by the state. He said the sums returned to local government have been growing each year.

Adding that Wisconsin ranks 49th among the 50 states in the amount of aid it receives from the federal government, Fish chided, "Our two Democratic senators. I would have hoped, could have done better than that for us."

He called the relationship between the balanced state budget and higher local property taxes as an "illusion" created by the Democrats, blaming rising costs of local government and "inflationary pressures which are created by a Democratic administration in Washington," which he said, could correct the problem if it balanced the national budget.

Fish also charged that "The goal of many Democratic legislators has been to unbalance the budget by introducing politically palatable bills" before the Legislature.

Inflation

Cudahy denied that inflation was the sole cause of higher government costs. He suggested that the increases were not reflections "only of inflation, but of increased services, too."

He mentioned the statewide trend to increase salaries of teachers and thereby to raise the costs of education, already the largest single item of local government expense. Rather than the pay boosts being forced only by inflation, Cudahy said he feels it is a case of "finally giving education its due."

Cudahy questioned if it was sound fiscal policy to refuse to raise state taxes at a time when it was certain that local property taxes would increase.

He pointed out that the property tax fails to reflect an individual's ability to pay and is therefore the most regressive of all forms of tax while the kinds of taxes levied by the state are less regressive.

Driver Accidentally Hits, Kills Girlfriend

BLACKSTONE, Ill. (AP) — A Blackstone man, driving to the home of his girlfriend, struck and killed her Monday night as she walked along a road on the southern edge of town.

Susan Marie Webb, 18, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Leo Legner, 22, told police he was on his way to the girl's home and he could not stop his car in time to avoid hitting her.

Bipartisan Issue Further Open Housing Laws Seen

OSHKOSH — The top officer of the state Republican Party has predicted more laws to reduce discrimination in housing, and the state's chief Democratic Party organization leader added he favors such laws being passed either at the state or the local level.

Ody J. Fish, the Republican state chairman, told an audience of students here Wednesday night that open housing laws are "in an area of civil rights where the vast majority of citizens have arrived at a desire to effect proper legislation."

He said that there is always a "lag", however, between formation of public opinion and its translation into new laws. But Fish predicted, "I believe in the near future there will be added open housing legislation—maybe on the state level, and certainly on the local level."

"At Any Level"

Richard Cudahy, chairman of the Democratic state organization, added, "I'm in favor of open housing legislation at any level it can be enacted," even though, he said, there are good arguments for passing such laws at the state level to insure uniformity.

Cudahy said as he understood it, Milwaukee's adoption on Tuesday of an open housing law virtually identical to the state law already in existence was based on the theory that the state legislature would then rework the state law.

Fish observed that open housing has been a bipartisan matter at the state legislative level.

A bill sponsored by Republican Assemblyman David Martin and Democrat David Obey is now before the legislature. It would take exemptions to open housing requirements out of the present state law.

Winnebago County State Sen. William Draheim has said he favors the bill if it is not watered down.

New Ruling Waited Winnebago-New York Air Service May be Possible

OSHKOSH — Jon Harty, an official of North Central Airlines, recently told businessmen here that it may be possible very soon for a passenger to travel from the Winnebago County airport to New York City without changing planes.

Harty spoke to the aviation committee of the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce.

He said this service to local passengers hinges on approval of proposed rule changes by the federal Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB).

The new rule would allow local service carriers to apply for service between any two points on their system, Harty said, if the carriers could show "that they could operate it on a non-subsidy basis, and that there was a strong community interest."

Harty said he has every indication that the rule will be approved within the next few months.

North Central has filed several applications for routes with the CAB. They include service from Omaha to Minneapolis — St. Paul, Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis and Denver, and from the Twin Cities and Milwaukee to Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C.

In all the proposed routes, Harty said, North Central intends to "operate the flights beyond the terminal points." On the Milwaukee - New York City run, the company plans to originate one of three flights at Minneapolis and direct it through possibly Stevens Point and Oshkosh.

Harty said the federal agencies that regulate domestic air service are interested in placing "local carriers in . . . high density markets as a means of strengthening them and reducing their dependency on subsidy."

Harty said that if North Central were to receive authority for the Twin Cities - New York route, the company would receive $500,000 less subsidy money in the first year.

The North Central spokesman said the company feels strongly that people living within this area should have "single-plane or single-carrier service to their major metropolitan areas, whether that includes Detroit, New York, Washington or Omaha."

Kampo Claims Town Tax Load Greater

MENASHA — Roland Kampo, Town of Menasha chairman, released tax figures Wednesday which show that "all cities around us should say a prayer that there be more towns like Menasha."

Kampo compared the tax loads carried by townsmen and those paid by Neenah, Menasha and Appleton.

He pointed out that on a population basis, town citizens will pay almost twice as much for schools and county purposes as property owners in the neighboring communities.

At the same time, Kampo noted the cities received considerably more in state aids.

"If they distribute the aids by population, they should also distribute the tax by population," he declared.

The town pays school and county taxes according to its equalized value, as do all communities. Since the Town of Menasha has an equalized value of $96 million, its citizens pay more for the services on a per person basis.

Using an 8,000 population figure for the town, each citizen

Oshkosh Replies to State On Lake Pollution Charges

OSHKOSH — The City of Oshkosh, which has recently been named by the state as a potential polluter of Lake Winnebago, Wednesday replied to the state that a study of further improvements to its sewage treatment and collection facilities is underway.

Though the city is currently under no state order to improve its system, in particular by adding secondary treatment, "We'll be ready," City Manager Angus Crawford said this morning. It is possible that the state may issue an order for secondary treatment in the near future.

The city's written reply went to the state Division of Resource Development, which conducted a hearing here Monday on 51 pollution sources in the Lake Winnebago — Upper Fox River drainage basin name. At the hearing, Freeman Holmer, administrator of the state division, said some abatement orders will be issued in about three months.

A state study in 1966 showed the Oshkosh sewage treatment plant to be only 10 per cent effective in reducing pollutants. Crawford said today that the state report is "way off. I don't know how they got those figures," he said.

"Our plant is far more efficient than that. The records we keep show it."

Crawford said the city has known for some time that it must provide secondary treatment. He said a study ordered by the city council a few weeks ago definitely includes provision of secondary treatment.

The study also will include further plans for separation of the city's storm and sanitary sewers. The state report states that combination sewers sometimes cause overloading of the treatment plant and raw sewage

The city's reply points out that a study of sewer separation was made in 1955 and that $5.8 million has been spent on the project since.

Sewer separation is 80 per cent complete, the report states, and the rest of the project will be completed in five years.

The sewer study, which is due from an engineering firm in early 1968, also will explore extension of sewer service to new parts of the community and the possibility of satellite treatment plants.

Crawford said, however, that the capacity of the present treatment plant is adequate to serve growth areas if storm waters are removed from the collections system. He said the plant was designed to serve 77,000 people, considerably below the city population.

Calumet County Bar Association Elects Officers

CHILTON — Tom Lucas, New Holstein, was elected president of the Calumet County Bar Association during a meeting Tuesday, at Hilbert. He succeeds Robert Lutz of Chilton.

Ed Shummon, Reedsville, was elected vice president and William Engler Jr., Chilton, secretary-treasurer.

The association will send pamphlets to prospective jury members outlining their duties and procedures. The pamphlets also will be given to jurors at the time they are notified to appear for jury duty.

Steiger Placed on Joint Committee

WASHINGTON — Sixth District Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Oshkosh, is a member of the House-Senate conference committee that began attempting Tuesday morning to resolve differences between elementary and secondary education bill amendments adopted separately by the two bodies.

Steiger was among 14 House members of the joint committee. He was appointed Monday night by Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

represents $12,000 of valuation. In Menasha, with a population of 17,500, the citizen carries about $6,000, and Neenah (population 23,000) property owners are worth $7,000.

Week's Allied Losses Second Highest in War

New High Recorded in Civilian Deaths With Guerrilla Onslaughts

SAIGON (AP) — The Allied commands in South Vietnam announced casualty figures today showing that last week was one of the costliest of the year for their forces. And civilian deaths attributed to the enemy were the highest ever recorded.

During only one other week this year was the allied military death toll higher.

The statistics underlined the war's present pattern: The guerrilla war of attrition continuing while isolated pitched battles in remote areas become less frequent but more intense.

The allied commands said 595 of their men were killed last week—380 South Vietnamese, 194 Americans and 21 Koreans and Australians.

Communist Deaths

South Vietnamese headquarters said 1,818 Communist troops were killed last week, about the average for the past several months. But it was nearly double the total reported the week before.

The highest total of allied dead this year was in one week of May, when 628 men were killed. Statistics are not accurate for such previous years as 1964 and 1965, when the South Vietnamese were sometimes losing whole battalions in bloody battles. However, last week's losses were certainly among the highest since that period, when the government's strength was at low ebb.

The military losses were paralleled by the highest recorded civilian toll of the war, 232 dead. This included 114 Montagnard villagers slain in the Viet Cong massacre at the village at Dak Son, but U.S. officials have estimated the death toll there probably was around 200.

Isolated Battles

The war communicates today reported more isolated, deadly battles with little apparent pattern. There was fighting along the Cambodian frontier and in the northern provinces below the Demilitarized Zone, coupled with isolated Viet Cong assaults, shelling and the sabotage of a bridge on the Saigon-Dalat highway.

Battle reports listed continuing heavy Communist losses, 30 killed in one fight, 25 in another and 30 in another.

Holiday Halts

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said the South Vietnamese government would soon announce one-day cease-fires for Christmas and New Year's and a two-day truce during Tet, the Vietnamese lunar new year at the end of January.

The Viet Cong announced Nov. 18 that it would observe three-day cease-fires at Christmas and New Year's and a seven-day truce at Tet. Ky said the government announcement would come "in a few days."

Along the Cambodian border in the central highlands, high-altitude B52 bombers laid down a saturation rain about a mile from the frontier facing the American redoubt at Dak To, blasting at North Vietnamese infiltrators threatening American encampments in the vital region.

Smog Not Lung Cancer Cause

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Something about urban life makes death from lung cancer more common in the city than the country, but it's not smog, a team of state health scientists reports.

The conclusion was based on results of a nine-year study of almost 70,000 Californians.

"Although smog is known to have serious adverse health effects, it is not a causative factor in lung cancer," state Health Director Leslie Breslow told a news conference Wednesday.

Breslow reported the results of a study launched in 1958 to find out if California's smog may be a factor in the higher rate of lung cancer deaths in cities than in rural regions.

Although Los Angeles has the state's worst smog, the lung cancer death rate reported in the study was lower there than in either San Diego or San Francisco.

Cases Analyzed

Breslow teamed with Dr. John E. Dunn and Philip Buell to analyze the cases of 69,888 men. The researchers concentrated on those who had lived in the state for 15 to 20 years—the period in which smog became a major problem in Los Angeles and then in other metropolitan areas.

"We would expect an influence on lung cancer to show up about this time," Breslow said. But there was none, he reported.

Studies are continuing to find out why city residents are more likely to get lung cancer than their rural counterparts.

Problem Unsolved

"That problem remains unsolved," Breslow said.

Lung cancer may be a hazard of some occupations associated with urban life, but there is no substantial evidence of it yet, Breslow said.

In his report, Breslow distinguished between California smog—caused mostly by motor vehicle exhaust—and the sooty type common in the eastern United States and Europe.

Motor vehicle exhausts transformed photochemically by the sun's rays are blamed by pollution control officials for more than 80 per cent of Los Angeles County smog.

Pet Buck Gores AEC Employee

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — Bucky, a 200-pound buck and pet at a Los Alamos scientific laboratory technical area in a forest near here, unexpectedly gored an Atomic Energy Commission security officer.

Guard J. W. London, who shot Bucky to death during the animal's attack, was reported in good condition Wednesday at the Los Alamos Medical Center with injuries in the chest and leg.

Bucky was brought to Los Alamos two years ago from near Taos where he had been injured by a rope used by a family to keep him tied. After Bucky's recovery he remained near the technical area, wearing an orange collar and bell.

British Trade Status to be Set

BRUSSELS (AP) — The five Common Market countries that want Britain in their economic bloc decided today to bring the issue to a head with France at their meeting next Monday and Tuesday, a West German official said today.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt of West Germany and the foreign ministers of Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg made the decision at a breakfast meeting called by Brandt.

The West German official said the decision whether to start negotiations could go either way at next week's meeting of the Common Market council. But he said the five would insist on a decision.

The source said the five agreed that the decision must be unanimous. They did not question President Charles de Gaulle's right to a veto, he said.

Other Applications

He added that they also agreed the applications of Britain, Ireland, Denmark and Norway should remain a live issue even if the decision goes against negotiations—provided the applications still want to get in.

The officials said that if things reach that point, all concerned will have to consider what to do next.

De Gaulle has been trying to avoid discussing the applications altogether. This would skirt the possible necessity for a veto and the adverse reaction it is sure to arouse.

French officials said their position remains the same: That the six nations should discuss among themselves the consequences of British entry before making a decision on whether to open formal negotiations.

Rural-Urban Differences Education Funding Dispute Could Delay Legislative Adjournment

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight between urban and rural congressmen over federal school aid funds threatens to slow down Congress' rush to adjourn by week's end.

House and Senate conferees met until near midnight Wednesday in an effort to agree on a formula for funding the Elementary and Secondary Education Act but broke up in wide disagreement.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told the House earlier Congress could not adjourn without passing a bill extending the act. But unless agreement comes promptly today he is likely to run into heavy pressure to put it over until next year.

The school bill is one of three measures congressional leaders want to wrap up before the session ends, but it will take a firm hand to hold the homeward-bound legislators in Washington past Friday.

Foreign Aid

The other two bills, appropriating funds for the foreign-aid and antipoverty programs, moved forward Wednesday and should get another boost today.

A $2.3 billion foreign-aid bill agreed to by House and Senate conferees is expected to win quick approval in the House. And the Senate is expected to pass a $1.98 billion appropriation for the antipoverty program approved by its Appropriations Committee.

Although the House has voted only $1.6 billion for the antipoverty program, little difficulty is expected in reaching a compromise at about the $1.78 billion figure that Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity says he needs to continue the program at its present level of operations.

In the school bill conference, members from urban areas are quarreling with rural representatives over proposed changes in the formula for allocating funds that would increase the amounts going to rural areas at the expense of large Northern cities.

Funds Released

The problem arises because President Johnson, seeking to hold down federal spending budgeted only half the amount for the program that Congress authorized, making the existing formula inoperative.

Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the House conferees, said he thought the difficulty could be settled today. But other House members were less optimistic and two said no agreement could be reached in the next day or two. They also expressed doubt that members could be held in town any longer than this weekend.

The conferees did dispose of the Senate-backed elimination of a provision in the House bill that would have prevented the Health, Education and Welfare Department from deferring funds for new school programs in districts believed to be practicing racial discrimination.

Banker Charged With Misappropriated Funds

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Robert W. Jonte, president of the Bank of Greeleyville, was charged Wednesday with misappropriating bank funds and credits totaling $94,347. Jonte, 43, was arraigned and then released on a personal recognizance bond pending federal court action.

Play Change-A-Letter With A Group of Your Friends

BY CAPPY DICK

"Change-a-Letter" is a word game that is perfect for a party where the young players have a good knowledge of words. Actually, as few as two players may play.

The problem confronting each player is to think of a word, which simply by changing one letter, will become a word of entirely different meaning. The other players must try to figure out from clues given what the words are.

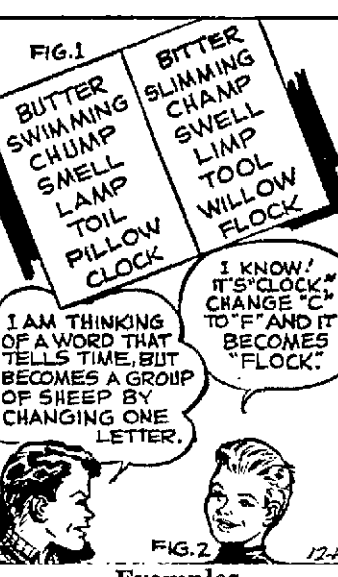

The players in Figure 2 are demonstrating how the game proceeds. One player says, "I am thinking of a word that tells time, but becomes a group of sheep by changing one letter."

The other player says, "I know! It's 'Clock'. Change 'C' to 'F' and it becomes 'flock'."

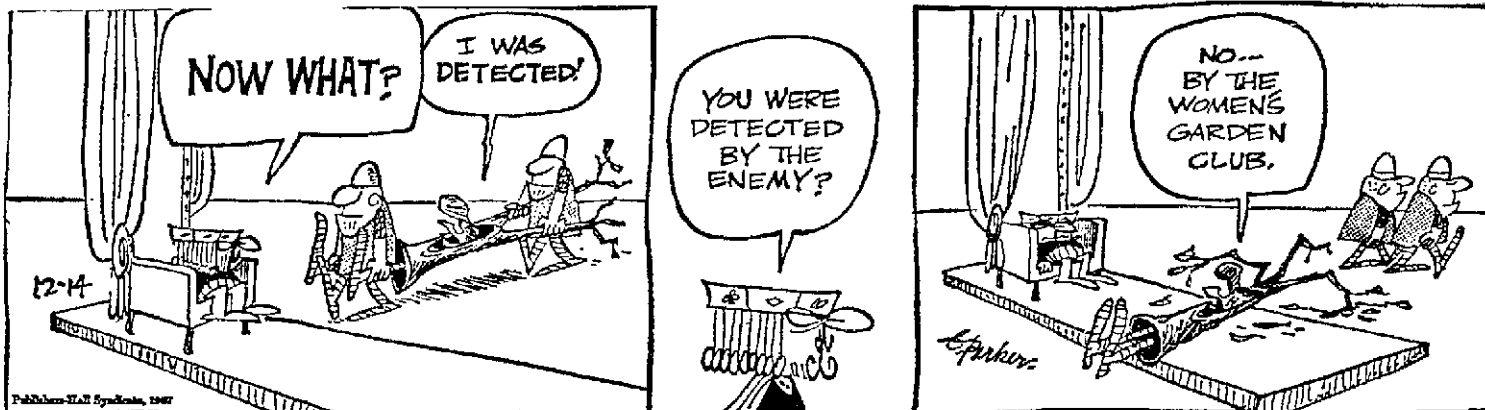

The first player to guess what the two words are wins 100 points.

At the end of 10 words, the person with the highest score is the winner and should be awarded a prize.

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A special commission voted Monday to delay action on Mrs. Dorothy Knowles' suggestions for the redecoration of the state executive office conference room until a sub-committee of professionals can study the historical importance of the room and other areas of the state capitol.

The committee, comprised of the professional members of the new state capitol and executive residence board created in the aftermath of Mrs. Knowles' plans, was asked to report its recommendations to the full commission on Jan. 8.

The decision came as the compromise conclusion to the first meeting of the agency, which heard from some members that the room — a copy of the conference chamber of the Doge's Palace in Venice — should be left untouched — and from others that it should be drastically altered.

And it heard State Architect Shinju Yamamoto, who triggered the artistic fight when he stood up and said "no" to Mrs.

Knowles' proposals, tell them that the capitol building and the room "is really the one monument that the state has to be proud of, that it can cherish."

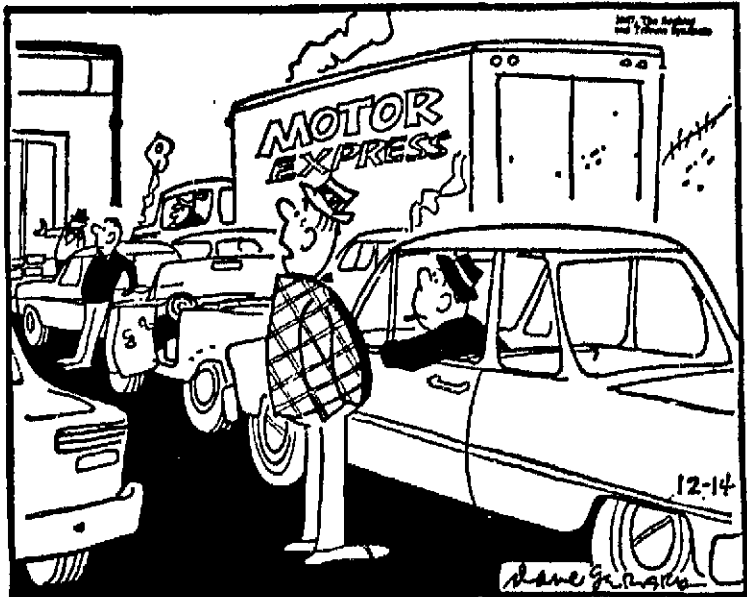

Yamamoto was not appointed to the 15-member commission.

Yamamoto's comments came in the face of suggestions from board member Richard W. E. Perrin of Milwaukee that renovation and redecoration of the room go far beyond that proposed by Mrs. Knowles.

Mrs. Knowles, an interior designer in private life and wife of Gov. Warren P. Knowles, had suggested refurbishing the room by replacing worn draperies, upholstery and rugs. Little opposition has grown to those plans.

But a proposal to paint the brown walls of the room an off-white has generated intense legislative opposition, which created the commission to review all such plans for the state building.

Perrin suggested that much of the gold inlay be removed from the ceiling of the conference room, which is in the governor's suite of offices, and that mottoes emblazoned on canvases in the ceiling be replaced with ornate lighting fixtures.

Wisconsin's Health

Early Detection, Treatment of Glaucoma Averts Blindness

BY E. H. JORRIS M.D.
State Health Officer

The person reading this has one chance in 50 of having or developing glaucoma if he is over age 40.

Glaucoma is a disease of the eyes, characterized by increased pressure within the eyeball which, over a period of years or even decades, destroys the optic nerve, causing loss of vision.

For many years, it may cause no symptoms. The central or "straight-ahead" vision may be preserved until late in the disease, as the peripheral or "side" vision is usually first to be damaged. The end result if untreated may be total blindness. It is estimated that in Wisconsin we may have nearly a thousand people whose vision is lost or seriously impaired from glaucoma.

The disease can be suspected in anyone who shows an abnormal pressure which is measured with an instrument called a tonometer. The test is painless and takes only a minute or less to perform. Diagnosis and treatment of glaucoma is done by a physician specialized in diseases of the eyes called an ophthalmologist. If found early, treatment is usually effective in preventing blindness.

There are many people who do not know about glaucoma. To draw attention to this disease and as a public service, communitywide screening programs are conducted. Such a detection program was held last spring in three Waukesha County hospitals as a project of the Wisconsin Society for the Prevention of Blindness in cooperation with the Waukesha County Department of Health, the Division of Health, the Wisconsin State Medical Society — Section on Ophthalmology, the Waukesha County Medical Society and Auxiliary, Lions Clubs, and local hospitals. More than 1,700 people were tested and 11 new cases of glaucoma and 12 glaucoma suspects were found. This is an example of cooperation between public and private agencies in a project which no single group could accomplish.

There is no substitute for a complete ophthalmological examination but for adults over age 35, the primary step toward prevention of blindness due to glaucoma is insistence on a glaucoma screening test every two years. Many physicians do such a screening test as part of a complete physical examination.

School Survey Asked by Board At Little Chute

Figures Sought to Start Planning

LITTLE CHUTE—An immediate survey into the projected 1968-69 school enrollment was ordered Tuesday night by the board of education so space planning and teacher placement can be started.

The survey will be conducted by Supt. of Schools Leo Bronkalla.

Board members stressed the importance of accurate figures because present enrollment is using all available elementary classroom space. Any change will necessitate additional teachers and space.

Bronkalla expressed hopes of reaching all concerned families with a questionnaire requesting information on next year's enrollment. Late registrations will not be given consideration in programming or class scheduling, the superintendent noted.

Situation Critical

The elementary school situation is extremely critical in regard to space while high school enrollment will help determine how many teachers should be hired, Bronkalla said. Present plans are to install two folding partitions in the all-purpose room at the high school. This would permit use of these areas for classes, which would free two regular classrooms.

Plans also are being made to convert the elementary school library into a classroom and using the teacher's lounge as a library. The board also authorized Bronkalla to study high school areas which might be converted into elementary use without jeopardizing the high school program.

Contact Administrators

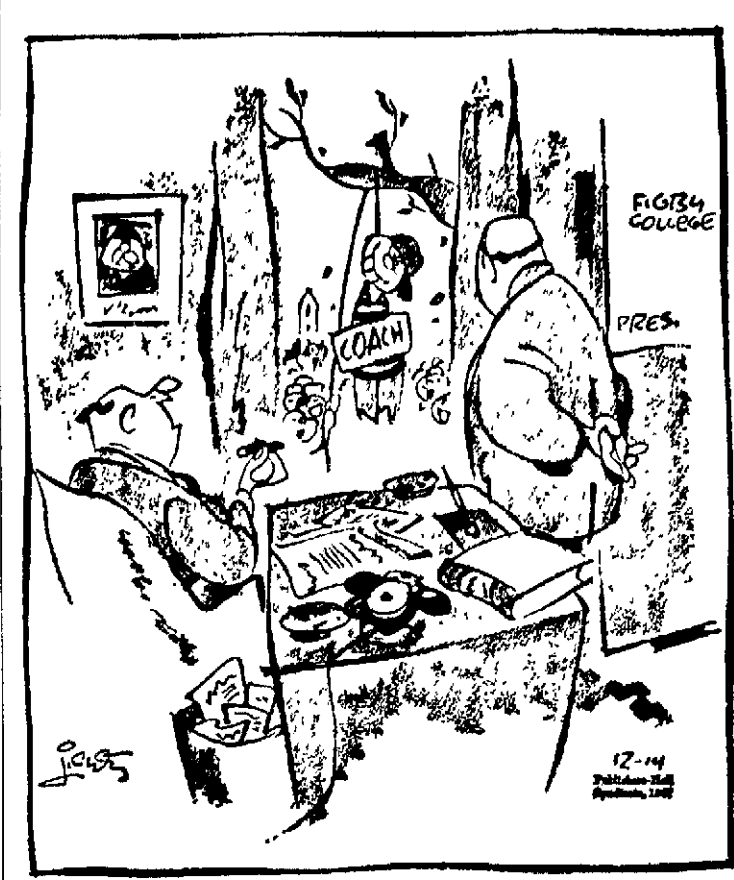

Residents planning to enroll youngsters in the public school for the first time are urged to contact school administrators.

In other action the board agreed to dedicate a portion of school property to the village for street purposes. The area, at the eastern edge of the school property, will be opened to the St. Aubin plat, the site of a future Lutheran church and school.

The school district will be responsible for assessment for sewer, water and excavation costs on the street. The present budget has $8,000 appropriated to help finance the assessments, the remainder will be included in next year's budget.

Plans were made to meet with the St. John High School Board of Education later this month to review the schools' joint athletic program. The board approved a Christmas party for teachers, board members and other employees at Oakwood Hills Dec. 15.

Senate Gets State Mental Care Aid Bill

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Assembly has passed and forwarded to the Senate a bill to increase aid to counties for care of patients in state mental hospitals and colonies for the mentally retarded.

The measure, approved Wednesday, differs from a Senate bill passed earlier.

One portion of the Assembly bill would guarantee that counties, collectively, would not have to pay more than $1.5 million in additional costs as a result of a bill passed in 1965 by the legislature.

Counties are faced with extra expenditures for mental patients because of a change in the state aid formula.

At the time of the change, counties were told that extra federal money from medicare would offset the increase. But federal funds have been tied up in red tape.

A second portion of the bill provides that $1.5 million would be available to help the state catch up with payments to mental hospitals.

Knowles Signs Local Tax Bill

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles has signed into law a bill allowing cities to impose an immediate vehicle registration tax of up to $9.

When the Madison City Council recently imposed the new tax, La Follette said the action was invalid because the original bill had a Jan. 1 effective date.

There'll Always be a White Christmas if Mica Holds Out

WASHINGTON — Snow or shine, there will always be a White Christmas in the United States so long as mica holds out.

The versatile mineral is a source of the artificial snow that brightens Christmas decorations.

Mica has helped actors' careers, too. Countless Hollywood heroes have mushed their way to stardom through raging blizzards of mica.

Simulating snow is only one of mica's many uses, the National Geographic Society says. For example, this mineral adds a sparkle to paint and wallpaper, coats the inside of automobile tires, and backs asphalt roofing.

Mica acts as a thermal and electrical insulator in scores of home appliances. The breakfast toast is browned by red-hot wires wrapped around thin plates of mica.

The term mica refers to a family of silicate minerals that have crystalized directly from molten rock. The micas take the form of paper-thin sheets tightly pressed in a hexagonal crystal. The sheets can be easily stripped from one another; they suggest the pages of a book.

Splitting a book of mica can be a tedious process, however. A sheet may measure only .0012 of an inch thick.

Mica's color varies with chemical composition; it ranges from black to crystal transparency. Seen through a microscope, one of the commonest micas — muscovite — blazes with intense color.

Russian explorers first discovered muscovite in Siberia some 275 years ago. They named it in honor of Moscow — even then the greatest commercial and industrial center in the country — which they had left to investigate the mineral-rich region.

Dazzled Foreign Courts

For years Russian envoys dazzled foreign courts with mirrors and other objects made from the material. The crystal's fame spread through many lands.

Bright micas especially appealed to India's princes. Glistening sheets decorated palace walls. Mica sequins glittered from the skirts of dancing girls.

At the turn of the century, Indian Mica came into increasingly heavy demand by manufacturers of electrical equipment. The mountains of Bihar and Madras in eastern India still produce some of the best mica in the world.

In World War II, America's industrial need for mica was so urgent that hundreds of thousands of pounds were flown directly from open-pit mines in India by the Air Transport Command. The high-grade mica was indispensable for vacuum tube spacers, radio condensers, and other vital electrical components.

After the war, the mineral held its position as one of India's chief exports. Today India stands first in high-grade sheet mica production, and supplies about 80 per cent of world demand.

Newberry Speed Limit Causes Shouting Match

Two Appleton aldermen got into a shouting match Tuesday during a public safety committee hearing at city hall on whether to lower the speed limit to 25 m.p.h. on E. Newberry Street.

When the noise had subsided, the committee recommended retaining the present 35 m.p.h. limit and Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) stalked out of the room.

Earlier Thompson and Ald. Mark Catlin (7th) locked horns on the issue which normally would have been routine. Catlin, who lives on Appleton's far southwest side, claimed lowering the speed limit did not make sense and was not in the best interest of moving traffic satisfactorily on Newberry Street, located on the far south-east side and in Thompson's ward.

Fears Accidents

Thompson said he had requested the lower speed limit because he was afraid children or bicyclists might be hit by cars. There are no sidewalks.

Catlin told the committee he checked the area and "never saw a bike on the road" and claimed lowering the speed limit would keep traffic on the street 40 per cent longer, thus increasing the danger of an accident.

Newberry Street is a narrow 24-foot roadway with a traffic count of about 5,000 vehicles a day.

Thompson said at 25 m.p.h. a motorist would have better control of his car if he had to make a sudden stop to avoid striking a pedestrian walking at the side of the road.

Legitimate Request

Ald. Eldred Mullen (6th) moved that the 25 m.p.h. limit be adopted until sidewalks are installed in 1969 but the motion died lacking a second. Others on the committee are Catlin, Ald. John Ayers (12th) and Ralph Gertsch (19th).

Thompson accused Catlin of "butting into ward matters" and attempting to "ruin the city council."

He told the committee the 25 m.p.h. limit represented a legitimate request from the alderman of the ward.

Yule Seal Sales Stand At $9,300

Outagamie Hopes
To Surpass 1966
Total of $12,000

Christmas Seal Campaign contributions in Outagamie County to date total about $9,300, according to Mrs. Donald Sturtevant, chairman of the county's Anti-Tuberculosis drive.

Last year the final figure was $12,000 and it is hoped the sum will be surpassed this year.

According to a release by the Wisconsin TB Association, total contributions in the state are $285,936, almost half of last year's record total of $594,002.

Optimism was expressed by Andrew Macdonald, state campaign chairman, who announced that the contributions so far are about 5 per cent ahead of corresponding 1966 figures. He felt that if the present pace continues, the 1967 goal of $650,000 will be met.

The campaign is conducted through the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association's central office in Milwaukee and by 52 local associations throughout the state.

Proceeds are used for the eradication of TB in Wisconsin.

Night School To Continue

Chilton Board and Vocational District
Will Offer Classes

CHILTON — Rumors about discontinuation of night classes at Chilton High School due to lack of funds were squelched Monday night at the school board meeting.

Letters and telephone calls to the high school were discussed and supt. A. W. Gordon explained that after the first of the year, Vocational Technical and Adult Education District 12 will offer classes under its system. Other subjects that the general public is interested in such as knitting, upholstery, also will be taught if enough people want.

Gordon was authorized to contact the vocational district to learn what subjects would be taught here under its direction and report back at the January meeting so the schedule can be made up.

Claim Calumet Doesn't Need Investigator

Committee Advises Against Creating New Position

CHILTON — A full-time county investigator is not necessary, the Calumet County Board of Supervisors was told Tuesday afternoon.

The opinion came from Ray Rusch, chairman of the Committee on Protection of Persons and Property following a committee study.

The board then agreed to hire secretarial help in the sheriff's department two days each week in an effort to speed up paper work and give the sheriff more time for investigation activities.

Hire Clerk

Clerical help two half days a week also will be provided for the traffic department to prepare court cases and handle traffic records. It is believed this will allow more time for patrolling by traffic Captain Vic Juno and help eliminate an accumulation of overtime by some of the other patrolmen.

Juno's clerical help also will work two afternoons a week for Civil Defense Director Zeno Endres.

The board authorized a purchase of a Breathalyzer to cost about $1,200.

Authorize Overtime

Overtime pay for three officers in the traffic department at the rate of $2.50 per hour was authorized, when their services are needed.

In other action the board:

—Placed the radio operators under the supervision of the Protection of Personal and Property Committee at the operators' request.

—Transferred $5,000 to the snow removal fund from the county highway funds.

—Authorized sending a copy of the progress report on the shoreland and floodplain ordinance to the State Department of Resource Development at Madison with a request for extension of time. Orrin Meyer is the zoning planner.

Hilbert Board Against Merger

Believes Joining Chilton, Stockbridge To Require Building

HILBERT — Village officials, with the exception of Clarence Stengel, Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) representative, who was absent, went on record disapproving of a three-district merger with Chilton and Stockbridge school districts.

All board members expressed opinions that the Chilton district at present met the state recommendations for enrollment: offered one subject less than Hilbert and carried a heavier debt load. Merging with the larger district, board members felt, would, in a few years, bring about an enrollment requiring the building of an additional high school.

Authorize Attendance

In accordance with the Wisconsin Resources Act, requiring all municipal water and sewage treatment plant operators to be certified by Jan. 1, 1969, the board approved the attendance of Ernest Pitzen at a six-week training program scheduled to begin in the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 in January.

The district will be the first in the state to offer the course two afternoons a week for six weeks.

Pitzen was again appointed fire chief of the volunteer fire department, a post he has held for 16 years.

Fire protection contracts for portions of the towns of Woodville and Chilton were approved at the same $900 a year rate as last year. Approval is given at this time to allow the towns to include the funds in their budgets, although payment is not due until July.

Shawano Man Injured In Fall at Building Project in Appleton

Martin Radtke, 56, 915 Union St., Shawano, suffered head, back, and rib injuries about 8:45 a.m. today when a tool fell from a roof at the site of a new Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. office building in Industrial Park.

Radtke was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital by Lindy's Ambulance.

Waupun Inmate Given Annulment Wednesday

Ronald Pahlke, 30, an inmate at the state prison at Waupun, was granted an annulment Wednesday from Sharon Lynn Pahlke, 23, 309 S. Weimer St. The action took place in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

They were married May 11, 1963, and had no children. The court did not order alimony or a

Neenah Student Wins WSU-O Award

OSHKOSH — William H. Schwartz, Neenah, will be named outstanding male resident student at Wisconsin State University — Oshkosh at the first annual Men's Interhall Association banquet at 6:30 p.m. today at the Holiday Inn.

Schwartz, a junior who lives in Gruenhagen Hall, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Schwartz, 1099 Congress St., Neenah. He will receive an award as the resident student who contributed most in a positive way to the residence hall system.

COG Votes to Ask for Sewage Disposal Funds

Cities will extend to outlying areas if the study shows a need for such services. At the last COG meeting, Kampo asked these outlying areas if the study required it, but no agreement was reached.

Eugene Franchett, executive director of COG, said the study will survey existing facilities in the area for coping with solid waste disposal, and would then evaluate future needs and means of meeting them before recommendations are made to COG.

Franchett emphasized that COG members would decide on what type of plan they would follow, and that data on all methods of disposal would be presented for consideration. Kampo called for a roll call vote on both authorizations (HUD and HEW grants), and was the only COG member to vote "no" on both.

Raise Salaries
In other business, COG members approved $500 increases over previously approved salaries for Regional Planner Arno Haering and Associate Planner Greg Kittelsen. The salaries were hiked to $10,200 and $8,100 respectively.

The increases were recommended by the Finance Committee to meet the growing shortage and demand for professional planners throughout Wisconsin. The money for the increases will come from COG's contracted services fund, while the previously approved budget for $56,909 will remain the same.

Daniel Williams of Combined Locks was the only COG member voting against the increases. Holmes also voiced objection to the increase before he left to attend another meeting.

Floodplain Zoning
The group also heard a report by Kittelsen on a floodplain and floodway zoning model ordinance for municipalities prepared by the COG staff and released to member governments Wednesday.

The ordinance, which the state said must be adopted by Jan. 1, will provide for the marking of floodplain areas based on the upper project limit (maximum level) of the Fox River. A distance of one foot above the maximum limit of each dam will be the horizontal boundaries of the floodplain districts located within incorporated city limits.

COG also:
—Voted to assure compliance under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 in respect to discrimination by or against city officials or employees.
—Agreed to make a study of

New Laws Put More Pressure On Candidates

have a minimum of 100 signatures on their nomination papers and be allowed a maximum of 200. Under the old law, which was based on a percentage of the vote for the last gubernatorial election, it was possible to file papers with as few as 20 signatures.

Circuit and County Judges will need 200 signatures and the county judge candidates will now file their nomination papers with the county clerk. Papers for the circuit judges will still be filed with the secretary of state.

The number of signatures required on nomination papers for municipal and other local office candidates remains unchanged.

Have Less Time

Candidates running for office in the September primary (district attorney, county clerk, county treasurer, register of deeds, clerk of courts, surveyor, coroner and sheriff) also will have less time to obtain signatures and, particularly for Democratic Party candidates, will need more signers.

All candidates for those offices in Outagamie County will now need a minimum of 500 signers. Previous law required 3 per cent of the party vote cast for governor. For Republicans this would have meant about 475 signers and for Democrats about 425. They will now have only 39 days to circulate papers instead of 60.

Independent candidates for general county offices are now required to have a minimum of 1,000 signers. The old law would have required about 900 in Outagamie County.

the parochial school system tax base in the Fox Cities on the suggestion of Chairman Joseph DeBruin of the Town of Buchanan.

"I think we should do some spadework to see what could be done to keep parochial schools operating on a sound financial basis," DeBruin said.

Dancing on Bar Leads to Night Spot Owner's Arrest

Two Appleton Police Department detectives making "routine tavern checks" early this morning, arrested the operator of The Embers, 730 W. College Ave., for allegedly allowing an entertainer to perform in the barroom area.

No court appearance date has been set for Walter Michiels, according to police.

The detectives said they went into the night club about 12:50 a.m. and ordered two bottles of pop. While they were there, they said, a female dancer performed two dances on the stage, while records played on the juke box.

While the third record was playing, the detectives said, the dancer got off the stage, climbed onto the bar, and finished her dance. Detectives then informed Michiels that the act was in violation of a city ordinance.

Police said the dancer, 21 years old, is from Detroit. On Oct. 13, a dancer at The Embers paid a $100 fine on a disorderly conduct charge brought after a detective saw her perform a brief "topless" dance at the night club early the morning of Oct. 6. The dancer appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Workshop Burns At Royalton

ROYALTON — A small frame workshop at the Floyd Roloff home here was extensively damaged by fire about 6:30 a.m. today.

Manawa firemen extinguished the blaze. The shop was burning in the floor, walls and attic when they arrived.

Roloff said the fire apparently started near a table saw he had used Wednesday night. No damage estimate was available.

Ireland Blocks Trains

LONDON (AP) — British Railways canceled all train services to Ireland on Wednesday night at the request of the Irish government, to keep the foot and mouth disease ravaging Britain's herds from spreading to Ireland.

County Taxes Largest Kaukauna Mayor Hits Increasing Area Taxes

KAUKAUNA — Mayor Gilbert Anderson questioned "whether the city is becoming solely a tax collection agency" in reviewing the city's 1968 budget for members of the Rotary Club Wednesday.

"For the first time in history," Anderson said, "the county amount has exceeded that needed for city purposes." He also pointed out the large increases in cost of education.

Noting the $3,524,742 budget, Anderson showed how the net tax increase of $3.84 was possible when the gross increase could have been $12 per $1,000. Increased receipts such as income tax, utility tax, investments and an increase in assessed valuation all helped reduce the gross increase, Anderson noted.

City Progress

Reviewing the progress of the city during the year, Anderson said, "Major projects we have done this year are the continuance of our permanent road program, approximately one mile of concrete pavement was laid, eight miles of semi-permanent roads, approximately $90,000 worth of storm and sanitary sewers were laid. We have bought and paid for the railroad property and one new small industry has come into our city on this property. We paid off in debt service, principle and interest, some $253,000."

Pointing to river bank improvements, a project about one-half completed, Anderson explained it was done at little or no cost to the taxpayer because of cooperation from Jaycees and the local utility. "I think, when it is completed next year, you will like what you see," the mayor said.

"Kaukauna this year," he added, "under the able guidance of our Housing Authority, became the first city in the Fox River Valley to be certified for public housing. This means that all our codes and ordinances are in order and that we are eligible for federal aid. I do not look for any monies to be forthcoming in the near future, as many of the federal budgets have been cut."

Largest Project

"The single largest project going is our sewage disposal plant, which is approximately one-third done, with expectations of completion sometime this spring," the Mayor noted. "We are a little bit proud of the results we have had in regard to aid on this project."

"A little over a year ago, we were faced with a lawsuit and no money. As of last week, we completed and accepted final aid on this project which will amount to some $410,000, out of a total project cost of $716,000, or 57 per cent paid for by federal and state aid."

"In summation, Anderson remarked, "the year 1967 was an extremely busy year. We hope that what we have accomplished will be fruitful in the years ahead."

More Bulb Snatching

NEENAH — Although several youngsters have admitted to police that they stole Christmas bulbs in recent days, bulb snatching continues in Neenah.

Authorities received five complaints of youths removing a total of 17 bulbs Wednesday.

Some 57 bulbs were removed on the city's Christmas tree the light sockets ripped off of cooperation from Jaycees and the local utility. "I think, when it is completed next year, you will like what you see," the mayor said. Pretty as a Christmas Card

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

HOSPITALITY has become synonymous with the Christmas season and certainly plays an important role at holiday time. This is the season for fruit cakes, Christmas puddings, rich sauces and elegant desserts. It's the time to have plain but delicious cookies on hand, beautiful cookies richly decorated, ready for instant serving with eggnog, teas, wines and coffees.

Since fruit cakes traditionally are an important food custom for the season, the high and handsome beauty, aptly called Christmas Card Raisin Cake, makes a splendid choice for serving during the Twelve Days of Christmas. Suggested for a buffet at night are the two other "Christmas Card" foods pictured. Both feature the fruit known best as the "hospitality" symbol, the pineapple. The skewered chicken livers, sausages and mushrooms go with a delicious sauce, superb baked eggs in individual cups and miniature pastries with a pineapple coconut filling. It's a jewel of a menu because it has the portion control most efficient for serving a crowd. Besides, the foods are easy to prepare.

A tiered and jeweled raisin cake dramatically framed against red velvet, upper left, looks like a pretty Christmas card. Both dark and golden raisins are in the lightly spiced batter.

Pineapple long has been the symbol of hospitality and here, upper right, it gives spectacular flourish to a holiday brunch or evening company supper. The entree is skewered chicken livers, sausages and mushrooms. It's served with individual baked eggs and miniature pastries.

Colorful and glamorous is the buffet service, right, featuring flaming chicken breasts with sauce, a lovely crown salad and spicy pineapple-carrot pudding for dessert.

Soy Sauce Important Seasoner To Menu Planners in Far East

BY MARY WALTER

The visitor to the Far East is struck by one culinary aspect — the absolute necessity of soy sauce.

In Japan a great deal of importance is placed upon how food looks, the arrangement on the small plates and upon larger platters. The pieces of meat and fish in soups are carefully cut in designs and there is a delicacy of flavor and assortment. Only the various types of radish seem to be sharp in flavor.

A Chinese dinner also consists of small helpings of numerous dishes. Diners in a Cantonese restaurant may choose from carts pushed from table to table. There may be shrimp, pieces of egg, rice, pork fixed in many ways but often eaten at the same meal. Some are French fried, baked, steamed or raw. Always there is weak green tea.

SPICIER DISHES
In Thailand and the hotter spices make their appearance. Curry, turmeric, cardamon are used extensively and the same is true in the Philippines. Vinegar is a staple in the Philippines and used for simmering vegetables, fish and fowl. Bay leaf, cumin and garlic are primary flavor requirements in both Thailand and the Philippines.

But in all four countries, soy sauce is used either for cooking or dipping at every meal.

In Japan, sukiyaki is cooked in a sauce made of soy sauce, sake wine and sugar to taste. Dishes of cold soy sauce are provided for tempura eaters to dip the French fried pieces of prawn, squid, fish and vegetables. The soy sauce in China is used in the preparation of many dishes from sweet sour pork to the filling for delicate fritter-like balls of rice. In Thailand and the Philippines, it is used with fruit, especially mangoes.

RICE A STAPLE

Rice of course is the real staple. It is served with everything. But it is also used in a number of prepared dishes. Immature rice is roasted and pounded. As "pinipig," it's used in breakfast dishes. The water used in the second and third washing of rice also is used. Ground rice is mixed with water and left to stand and as "galapong" goes into other preparations. There is even a red rice kernel called "angkak." This is used to color food, especially fermented fish.

In Thailand and the Philippines, the countries in the tropics, coconut milk is used as a rich sauce base especially in meat and poultry dishes. The variety of vegetables and fruits is amazing.

The Western palate generally has to get used to Oriental dishes. But I had some favorites even in so short a time.

In Japan, the tempura of large shrimp and such vegetables as sweet potato slices, thin beans and eggplant was excellent but I didn't try the squid. Those who did reported it to be rubbery and tasteless. The "nichi," a fruit that has a taste between a snow apple and a pear, is particularly good sliced and served cold for dessert or breakfast.

COOKED WITH CARE

Your Problems

Questions About Identity of Real Parents Irritate Reader

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a steady reader who was adopted at birth. For the 50th time I've been asked by a "friend" if I ever wonder who my real parents are. How can I get it through their unthinking heads that I am living with my real parents?

Is there some set rule that says parents must go through the motions of childbirth? Where does love come in? I mean no disrespect to my natural mother but I often thank God for putting me into the home of the wonderful people who raised me. It was a lucky break.

I don't think I've said this very well, Ann, but I've been wanting to say it for a long time and I feel like a million dollars now that I've said it. Thanks for the opportunity. — No Strangers Live Here

Dear No Stranger: What a wonderful letter! It sounds as if someone has done a beautiful job of making you feel wanted and loved. Cheers for the whole family.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you published a letter from a woman who was bemoaning the fact that she was over-endowed. (When the salesgirls saw her coming, they used to sigh, "Good grief, here comes old D-cup!")

You answered by telling her about a survey made in your office which revealed that 10 out of 11 girls said they would rather have too much than too little.

Surveys don't help the woman

whose bra straps cut into her shoulders like knives because they are carrying such a load. Surveys don't help the unfortunate girl who can't wear sweaters or scoop neck dresses or clingy fabrics and is called by nicknames you couldn't print in your column.

Why didn't you tell the woman who wrote that the super-blessed females can now be helped by surgery? The operation is not dangerous. The surgeon merely removes the excess fatty tissue and the women emerges with normal measurements.

So many problems are insoluble. When one comes along that can be solved, I should think you'd be happy to pass the word. — Been There

Dear B.T.: You are right. The surgery you describe has helped many women. I was aware of the procedure and I should have suggested it. My apologies to all whose cups runneth over.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Evelyn Ecker is chairman of the membership committee and was assisted by Mrs. Merle Madden, Miss Rose Mary Brower, Miss Sharon Trentlage and Mrs. Willard Storch.

Models for the afternoon hat and wiglet show were Mrs. James Nolan, Mrs. Richard Kresse, Mrs. Norma Knuth, Mrs. Jean Jansen, Miss Lynda Hollenbeck, Mrs. Edward Sager, Mrs. Barbara Rumlow and Mrs. Jerome Cayen.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young

Couple Marks 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young, 723 E. Eldorado St., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a surprise reception Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mylan Sinclair, 1818 N. Harman St.

The Youngs were married Dec. 6, 1917, in Milwaukee. They came to Appleton in 1919 where Mr. Young was employed as a pharmacist at Belling Pharmacy. He is now employed part time at Appleton Pharmacy.

Soy Sauce Popular With Oriental Cooks

are treated with care and not overcooked.

Thailand has magnificent king prawns, as large as lobsters. Cooked with green pepper, pineapple, onions, then served in a curry sauce made with coconut milk, they are delectable. A favorite dish in the Philippines is Chicken Adobo.

The chicken is boiled in vinegar and water with bay leaf and garlic. The fried meat is added to it when served. Coconut milk can also be added.

ORIENTAL APPETIZERS

While hors d'oeuvres are a Western invention, they can be adapted readily to Oriental fare. Froglegs fried in garlic butter, pastry shells filled with shrimp, tiny clams cooked in garlic and dill, small beef kabobs to be dipped into a soy sauce mixture, the Philippine Lumpia filled with meat, rice, fish and egg mixtures spoiled our appetites and added to the pounds.

Fried rice goes by a number of names, but essentially it is the same. The rice is simmered in a broth and just about anything can be added to it when served — shrimp, bits of cooked chicken, hard fried eggs, bacon, roast pork, onions, green peppers. Obviously it is a meal in itself.

The United States military in the Philippines makes no effort to use the variety of local produce. The reasons are both political and practical.

Politically, there is a campaign to Buy American or "Bush." In general, this is not particularly applicable to food but is an effort to encourage American investment in the Philippines, soothe Congressional criticism, and help the status of American balance of payments.

Practically, there is the matter of sanitation.

The tropics abound in parasitic diseases and the average American has not built up an immunity that the Filipino may have. In some areas human excrement still is used as fertilizer with the obvious danger of transmitting disease. It is difficult to control the handling of meat, fruits and vegetables. There is no fresh pasteurized milk available.

But there seems to be no effort to find ways of using the available produce that would be safe.

The bananas in the commissary are black and small but there are beautiful bananas for sale on road side stands near Manila. The Pacific Ocean teems with shrimp and prawns — but the only ones for sale in the commissary — for $1.10 a pound — were frozen in Seattle, Wash. The military has made no effort to develop or promote the outstanding Oriental dishes which are so readily available in the better hotels and restaurants throughout the Far East.

It may be a small, unimportant matter, but the shunning of Philippine food does widen the emotional gap between Americans and Filipinos.

CHRISTMAS CARD RAISIN CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups California dark seedless raisins
1 1/2 cups California golden seedless raisins
1 cup whole candied cherries
1 cup green candied pineapple chunks
1 cup diced mixed candied fruits and peels
- 1 cup flaked coconut
1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can crushed pineapple
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon almond extract
3 beaten eggs
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup pecan halves

Combine raisins, candied fruits and peel, coconut and undrained pineapple. Heat, then cool while preparing batter.

Beat butter, sugar and almond extract together until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Add flour resifted with baking powder and salt. Beat until smooth. Mix in fruit mixture and nuts until well blended. Turn into two greased and paper lined 1 1/2 quart tube pans.

Bake in 300-degree oven about one and three-fourths hours or until cakes test done. Let stand half hour before turning out on wire rack. Recipe makes two small tube cakes.

NOTE: Batter weighs six pounds (11 1/4 cups) and will make five assorted layers as shown in photo and 1 (7 1/4 x 3 1/2 x 2 1/4-inch) loaf.

Bake at 300 degrees F. as follows: one-fourth cup pan — 45 minutes; three-fourths cup pan — one hour; one cup tube pan — one hour; two and three-fourths cup tube pan — one hour, 15 minutes; four cup tube pan — one hour, 20 minutes; seven-inch loaf pan — one and a half hours.

BREAKFAST GRILL
12 pork sausages
12 chicken livers
18 large mushroom caps
1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can pineapple slices
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 teaspoons catsup

Cook sausages slowly until browned, turning frequently. Remove from skillet and keep warm. Pour off excess fat. Sauté chicken livers in same skillet. When livers are almost done, add mushroom caps and sauté.

Meanwhile, drain pineapple well, saving syrup. In a separate pan, cook pineapple in butter until tinged with brown. Arrange livers, mushrooms and sausages on skewers, allowing three mushrooms, two livers and two sausages for each.

Heat two tablespoons pineapple syrup, vinegar and catsup in skillet in which meats were cooked, stirring to loosen brown particles. Spoon sauce over skewered meat. Serve with grilled pineapple slices. Recipe makes six servings.

Pineapple Coconut Filling
Melted butter

Combine milk, sugar, salt and shortening. Heat to boiling; cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in warm water (105-115 degrees F.) in warm bowl; add to cooled milk mixture, along with beaten egg and flour. Beat well.

Knead lightly on floured board to smooth out dough. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place about one and a half hours until doubled.

Roll out half of dough to very thin 10 x 18 inch rectangle. Let rest a few minutes, then cut into two (5 x 18-inch) strips. Repeat with second half of dough.

Spread Pineapple Filling over dough. Follow directions for shaping into whirls, fans and twists. Place on greased baking sheets. Brush with butter. Let rise in warm place about 30 minutes, until doubled. Bake in 400-degree oven 15 minutes or until golden brown. Brush with butter. Serve warm.

PINEAPPLE WHIRLS
Roll each 5 x 18-inch dough strip crosswise as for jelly roll, to make a slender 18-inch roll. Cut into three-fourths-inch slices. Place close together, cut side down, in greased pan. Flatten slightly so edges touch. Entire batch makes about 96 whirls.

PINEAPPLE FANS
Fold 5 x 18-inch dough strip lengthwise in thirds, to make strip 18 inches long and about one and one-half inches wide. Cut into one-inch slides; place an inch apart on greased baking sheet. Cut each piece half way through in two places, making three fingers, and spread apart. Entire batch makes about 72 fans.

PINEAPPLE TWISTS
Roll 5 x 18-inch dough strip from each long side toward center of strip. Cut into three-fourth inch slides; place an inch apart cut side down on greased baking sheets. Flatten slightly. Entire batch makes about 96 twists.

PINEAPPLE COCONUT FILLING
1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can crushed pineapple
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
4 teaspoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup toasted coconut

Combine pineapple, brown sugar, cinnamon and cornstarch. Cook, stirring, over moderate heat, until mixture thickens and clears. Remove from heat; stir in butter and coconut. Cool.

ELEGANT BAKED EGGS
1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can crushed pineapple
3 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/4 teaspoon seasoned pepper
Dash liquid red pepper seasoning
6 eggs

Drain pineapple pressing out most of syrup. Combine drained pineapple with rice, sour cream, cheese, onion, parsley, salt, pepper and liquid red pepper seasoning. Spoon into six buttered individual baking cups. Press rice against sides of cups leaving a depression in center. Bake in 250-degree 15 minutes. Break and drop an egg into each depression; bake 10 minutes longer or just until eggs are set to desired degree of doneness. Recipe makes six servings.

RED AND GOLD CHICKEN FLAMBE
1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can pineapple slices
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 sticks cinnamon
10 whole cloves
1/2 cup raw cranberries
6 large boned chicken breasts
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon paprika
1 1/2 teaspoons seasoned salt
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup rich chicken broth
1/4 cup white dinner wine
1/4 cup brandy

Drain pineapple, saving syrup. Combine half-cup pineapple syrup, sugar, vinegar and spices. Heat to boiling; lower heat and simmer five minutes. Remove from heat; add pineapple slices and cranberries; layer: Thoroughly blend gelatin with sugar and salt. Stir into undrained pineapple. Heat, stirring, until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat; cool. Blend in mustard, lemon juice, pepper seasoning and sour cream. Add green food coloring to give desired shade. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in stiffly beaten cream. Add a drop or two more food coloring, if necessary. Turn into round pan (8 inches diameter, 2 inches deep). Chill four hours or longer.

To make Rosy Pineapple layer (second part of recipe): Drain pineapple. Measure syrup and add enough pineapple juice to make one and one-half cups liquid. Dissolve raspberry gelatin in boiling water. Add pineapple liquid and lemon juice. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Fold in drained pineapple, celery and onion. Spoon into five-cup fancy mold (about 8-inches diameter). Chill four hours or longer.

When ready to serve, unmold Pineapple Cream Layer onto chilled serving plate. Run a heated knife or spatula over surface and immediately turn out Rosy Pineapple Layer on top. Return to refrigerator about five minutes to set. Garnish salad and serve with any desired dressing. Recipe makes 12 to 16 servings.

2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt

Blend undrained pineapple and pineapple juice with lemon juice, cornstarch, sugar and salt. Cook, stirring, over moderate heat about 10 minutes until mixture boils and becomes clear and thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in butter and brandy. Cool, then fold in stiffly beaten cream and candied fruit and peel. Recipe makes about one quart sauce.

STEAMED PINEAPPLE PUDDING

- 2 cups grated raw carrot
1/4 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 large egg
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 (8 1/2-ounce) can crushed pineapple

1 cup chopped walnuts
Place grated carrot in double thickness of paper towels and squeeze out excess liquid.

Cream shortening, sugar and spices together until very light and fluffy. Mix in well beaten egg thoroughly. Resift flour with soda and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with undrained pineapple. Stir in grated carrot and nuts, blending well. Turn into greased 1-quart mold (mold should be two-thirds to three-fourths full.) Cover tightly. Place on rack in large kettle of boiling water with water coming half way up sides of mold. Cover tightly and steam four hours. Keep water boiling and replenish as it evaporates. Remove cover from pudding. Cool on rack 10 minutes before turning out. Serve hot with your favorite pudding sauce. Makes eight servings.

Regular Allowance Helps Pre-Teen Manage Money

The allowance becomes increasingly important to the pre-teen, 10 to 12 years old, according to Louise Young, family finance specialist at the University of Wisconsin. It serves as a growing experience in learning how to handle money and it's best not to withdraw it for disciplinary reasons. The pre-teen finds it difficult to learn money management if the amount of his allowance is unstable.

Pre-teens may supplement their allowance by home chores or a neighborhood job. They need to feel that they share in many of the good things at home as well as some of the responsibilities.

Sharing Chores

Sharing in home chores will represent their contribution to home living. A neighborhood job will teach him self-discipline, self-confidence, and responsibility. Often, these are worth more than the small amounts of money he will earn.

Parents still need to encourage the saving habit at this age. This means saving for an object, the price of which it is possible for a child to save. The length of time before the child uses the money should not be so far distant that the goal is meaningless to the child.

Miss Guerin Fiancee of Lamar Wilson

NEW LONDON — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Guerin, 616 Broad St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Lamar Wilson. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Wilson, Northport.

Miss Guerin is employed at the First National Bank of Appleton. Her fiancé is an Army lieutenant stationed in California.

Svetlana May Make Home in Princeton, N.J.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva, daughter of the late Joseph Stalin, is visiting here for the holidays and is reported to be considering this Ivy League college town as her permanent home.

She is staying with friends here for the holidays, presumably either George F. Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to Russia, and his wife, or Edward Greenbaum, lawyer for her publisher, and his wife. She has been seen several times walking Princeton streets.

Greenbaum confirmed that she is in the community where Princeton University is located, and is considering a permanent home here.

No Confirmation

Mrs. Kennan would neither confirm nor deny that Mrs. Alliluyeva is staying at their home. "I have guests staying with me all the time," she said. "I never give out their names."

Asked about reports that Mrs. Alliluyeva would settle here, Mrs. Kennan said:

"Yes, I think that's true. She has peace and quiet and isn't pestered too much. You know, she might."

She has been living at the home of her translator in Locust Valley, N.Y.

Gov. Wallace Gets O.K. After Cancer Checkup

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace has completed a check at the hospital where she underwent cancer surgery in July with physicians reporting all tests "normal and satisfactory."

The report was made Tuesday by a spokesman at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital & Tumor Institute who said she would return for another checkup in two months.

"This is a standard procedure for all patients having undergone Governor Wallace's type of surgical and radiotherapeutic treatment," the spokesman said.

Mrs. Wallace, wife of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, left the hospital during the afternoon to return to Montgomery.

Hunt Delayed for Victims of Crash

MADISON (AP) — Exhaustion has forced temporary postponement of a search in Lake Monona for bodies of two persons who died Sunday in a plane crash with rhythm and blues singer Otis Redding and four others.

Madison Police Capt. George Schiro said Wednesday the divers may be given until Saturday to recuperate from the rigors of three straight days of searching in the near-freezing waters.

The bodies of Redding and four others were recovered earlier.

Farm Future Lies in Urban Support

Understanding City Needs Key to Fair Prices, Farm Bureau Told

CHICAGO — Farmers should recognize for their own salvation that city people have problems, too, Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Texas, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, told the American Farm Bureau Federal ion here. "How do you expect a handful of rural congressmen to get support for our needed farm program if we fight all the programs city people want?" Poage asked.

"And how do you expect to get the essential city understanding and support for fair farm prices if we refuse to try to understand and help with city problems?"

"Farmers lost a good opportunity recently when they opposed or ignored a proposed national rat extermination program."

"In order to obtain that fair share," he stressed, "agriculture will need the support and understanding of city people. The estimated 300 million Americans who will make up the nation's population in the year 2000 can and will be adequately fed if producers are fairly compensated."

"Reversing the calendar would put us back to the middle of the depression," he said, "a period that doesn't seem very long to many of us."

Poage linked favorable farm prices with the Democratic process. "Congress is hardly likely to help raise prices, even if it could, without support from the masses of the people — and 87 per cent of the people live in town," he remarked.

Poage suggested farmers have a job of educating the public about the facts of farm operations and the bargains for them in food produced. "Labor has done a much better job in this regard than has agriculture," he commented.

"Income must be increased to the point where farmers can buy all the needed inputs to assure production at all times sufficient for our needs and to maintain the world's highest standard of living."

He acknowledged the warnings that have been sounded about widespread famine to come if farmers do not greatly step up production.

"I don't think that this will necessarily occur in the United States," he said. "I do realize, though, that in many nations this desperate situation is very close. In the view of some analysts it is certain to occur within the next decade."

At a press conference following his address, Poage was questioned as to his views on collective bargaining. Farm Bureau President Charles B. Shuman has advocated massive expansion of farmer marketing associations on a voluntary basis. Another route which has been proposed, he was reminded, is compulsory marketing organizations.

Meat Inspection

"I don't see any prospect of us becoming a CIO or an AFL," he said. "But I doubt whether anybody — the Farm Bureau, the NFO or the House Agriculture Committee — has all the answers."

Poage expressed regret that the House version of the new meat inspection law was not adopted. The Senate version, recently enacted, is not workable in his opinion.

"Under the Senate bill, we will have to close many of the small slaughter and packing plants if the states cooperate," he said. "I felt that at least 45 states would have cooperated under the House bill. Under the bill finally worked out, however, I doubt whether more than 15 will participate."

He explained that the new law sets up rigid regulations concerning inspection that small plants cannot afford to meet. "I feel it would be better to keep the small plants under state control," he declared.

Recreation Leader Explains Methods Of Land Purchase

Thursday, December 14, 1967 The Post-Crescent C 11

Smith Testifies in Defense of Conservation Commission Actions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The senior member of the Wisconsin Conservation Commission told a legislative committee of inquiry Monday that he has often voted for state recreational land purchases "with tongue in cheek" because of the high prices involved. But he did so, said Charles F.

Smith of Wausau, because the Commission is under a legislative mandate to buy as much land as possible for the use of posterity in an era of steadily rising prices. Smith was a chief witness before the senate committee on conservation defending the commission charged by Assemblyman J. Curtis McKay of Mequon, Republican majority leader in the Assembly, with "highly questionable" land buying practices and of using its land condemnation powers to harass "the little people and the uneducated."

Smith also disclosed that the commission has instructed its subordinates to halt condemnation actions, and that those civil servants have strict orders against using the threat of condemnation action as a club with which to threaten unwilling land-owners.

Second Inquiry

The second major legislative inquiry of the year into the practices of the conservation department drew an overflow audience to one of the capitol's largest hearing rooms, including many persons visibly hostile to the department and its stepped-up land buying efforts under the 1961 so-called ORAP program.

McKay said he did not want to appear to be a "prosecutor", but he said the Legislature has a right to determine whether the commission is actually following out the legislature's intent in its land program.

Technically, the Senate committee was holding a second hearing into the qualifications of seven men named several months ago by Gov. Knowles to run the new State Board of Natural Resources, into which the commission has been merged under the Kellett Reorganization Act. But the arguments centered on the abilities and the policies of Smith and Arthur MacArthur, Janesville, and McKay said the committee should refuse to approve the nomination of both.

Smith was the principal witness, he said, because he has been chairman of the commission's land committee for years. He has been a member of the commission for 22 years, and the 83-year-old veteran told the senators that "I am on the shadowy side of life."

"But I take pride in my reputation", said the Wausau lawyer.

He said the commission might have made some errors among thousands of land transactions, "but they were errors of judgment if they were errors."

McKay testified for more than an hour on a complex series of state land transactions that he claimed showed cases of intimidation, coercion, some cases of favoritism "and, at best, an utter disregard for sound business practices."

"I'm also determined", he said, "to curb what I view as wasteful spending and conduct which has allowed preferred treatment for some of the conservation clique, while other ordinary citizens have been short changed."

Bill in Senate

McKay is one of the Assembly leaders who last week put through a bill calling for a six-month moratorium on land dealings of the commission, pending a full scale review of the record by the Legislature. That bill is now before the Senate.

Among the cases cited by the legislative leader was a $144,000 acquisition in Bayfield County which he said was twice the value put on the site for estate appraisal purposes five months before the state bought it.

He also cited one in the Kettle Moraine forest in southeastern Wisconsin involving "property owned by friends of the local conservation department employee worked up in value over 100 per cent."

McKay also cited the $5,000 purchase of a tract of land on a trout stream in Marquette County by J. R. Smith, one of the ranking officials of the conservation administration as chief of its game division. Three years later Smith collected $2,650 from his department for a public use easement on the land, or more than one half of the purchase price, which was used to retire a mortgage on the tract.

When Smith was called to the witness stand, he said he wasn't interested in the transaction with the state but that, when the department started soliciting such easements from his neighbors, he concluded he could not gracefully refuse to grant one also.

Smith said that he had put into the department's files in 1962 a memorandum on the matter because he knew that public officials are in the spotlight and that "sometimes politicians look into these things, as they have a right to do."

Commissioner Smith said his agency uses its own appraisers, and measures their estimates against private appraisals in most of the land deals it makes.

The value estimates usually coincide within four per cent, he said, but in some instances it feels the legislative enactment requires condemnation of strategic sites and parcels.

But McKay said the department uses the condemnation power as a threat, and that when it loses a fight in a condemnation action it tends to back out of the acquisition.

McKay cited a landowner who was offered $9,000 for his land sections and that it must rely on its subordinate civil servants to initiate and recommend them.

He also said that every one of the transactions McKay complained about and were completed were approved by the three governors who served during the period, Govs. Nelson, Reynolds and Knowles.

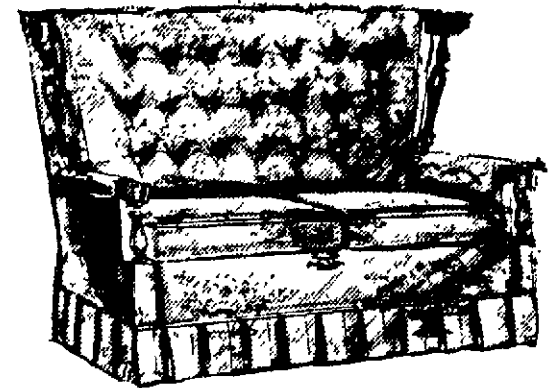

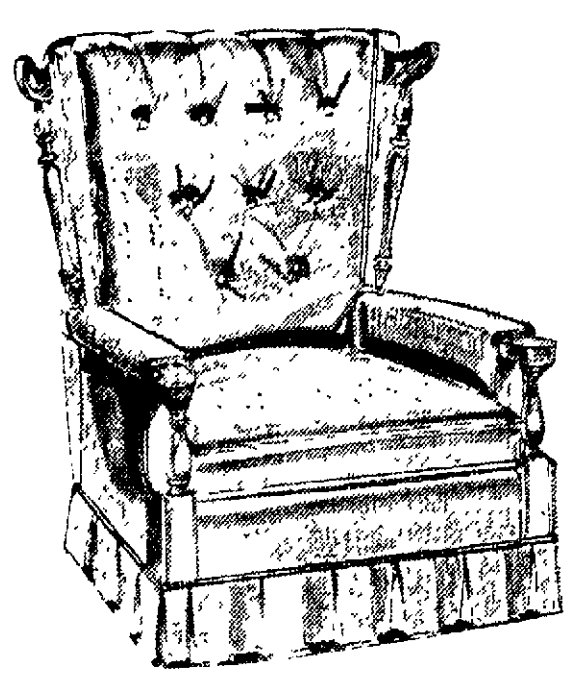

Improper

McKay said it is improper "for this big, powerful state government to fleece people."

Commissioner Smith explained that the commission approves thousands of separate land trans-

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Wayland Academy was topped from Wisconsin's dwindling list of unbeaten basketball teams Wednesday night by Appleton Xavier's superior firepower, defense and rebounding, 70-61.

The state's highest-scoring prep team (96-point average) met its Waterloo in the Xavier gym and found Pat Fitzgerald to be a 20th-century counterpart of the Napoleon-conquering Duke of Wellington.

Breaking loose repeatedly from defenders with a seemingly inexhaustible repertoire of movies, "Fitz" peppered 17 field shots through the hoop and added two free throws for a 36-point night.

Bouncing back impressively from their only loss of the season and worst defeat in Xavier history (85-60 to Pennings), the Gene (Torchy) Clark-coached 1967-8 Hawks notched their seventh victory. For the Beaver Dam school, it was the first loss in five starts.

Takes 34-32 Lead

Appropriately enough, Fitzgerald snapped the game's eighth and final tie with a nifty fake-and-go shot to give Xavier a 34-32 lead with 4 minutes, 5 seconds left in the second quarter. The Hawks kept adding to their lead, then preserved the win in the final 5½ minutes with an expert application of the semi-freeze.

The quick-moving Redmen came out with hot hands in the first quarter as they bagged 11 goals in 24 shots en route to a 22-22 lead. The two dozen points represented the exact game-long pace (96 points) that Wayland had maintained through its first four games.

Production fell off abruptly after that, as the Redmen managed only 13 more baskets in the final three periods against Xavier's 2-3 zone defense.

In the head-to-head duel between the scoring leaders of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference (Fitzgerald) and the Midwest Prep Conference (Jim Cape), "Fitz" had all the better of it after a 5 to 5 field goal standoff in the first quarter. While Fitzgerald fired in 12 more goals, Cape was held to six in the final three quarters.

Cape, who had scored 50 points in his last previous game, wound up with 22 last night. He sank 11 of 20 floor attempts.

"Fitz," whose 36-point sum was second only to his 41-point harvest against Milwaukee Notre Dame, clicked on 17 of 34 shots. The clever senior hit almost equally well from long, medium and short range.

Bob Fullarton, 6-foot-7 center, contributed 13 points to the Xavier total, and five of his six baskets came on rebounds. Fullarton and Tom Thomson gave the Hawks firm control of the correct over the long, 16-game FRVC season. But, the standings in the first month of the campaign tell a vastly different story.

The two Appleton schools rank among the top four teams in the conference. Only tall and heavily experienced Manitowoc (3-0) now stands ahead of Appleton West (3-1) which shares second place with Sheboygan North, another of the prime, pre-season title contenders. Appleton East, (2-1) currently ranks fourth in the 11-team circuit.

Both Play Friday

Friday night, both East and West will try to solidify their surprising early - season positions. AHS-W plays host to Sheboygan South, while AHS-E travels to Fond du Lac.

For the first time in five FRVC games, the Dick Emanuel coached West Terrors won't be playing a team that is unbeaten in league play. And for the first time in the same number of games West will wear the favorite's mantle.

Manitowoc turned back AHS-W's invasion in the FRVC opener, but since then, the Terrors have tripped Fond du Lac, AHS-E and Sheboygan North, all of whom were rated higher.

The Bill Morse-coached East Patriots beat Oshkosh, a team that had been rated stronger; and South, which had been considered about on a par with AHS-E in pre-season evaluations. In fifth-place Fond du Lac, the Patriots will be meeting a team that will be seeking to stay within range of Manitowoc, which will be heavily favored Friday night over winless Preble.

The Terrors still are paced by the sharp shooting of Tom Hintz, but several of his teammates are taking over some of the scoring burden. Carl Hunt and Ade Dillon are both close to double-figure averages, with marks of 9.8 and 9.3 points, respectively. Dillon erupted for 18 points in the overtime victory against North, while Hunt scored 14 against AHS-E last Friday and added nine against North.

Fourth Best

Hintz is scoring at a 19.5-point pace, the fourth best scoring average in the league. Only Manitowoc's Pete Hansen (25.7),

After witnessing 6-year kingpin Xavier go down to its worst defeat ever in basketball competition, teams in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference will be going at each other with a new verve this week as the league cage race gains momentum.

DePere Abbot Pennings, relegated as the team most unlikely to succeed in a pre-season poll of Fox Valley sportswriters, is suddenly the center of attention following the Squires' convincing 85-60 trouncing of the previously-unbeaten Hawks.

Coach Don LaViolette's band of scrappers is tied with Oshkosh Lourdes and Green Bay Premontre for the league leadership. Each has won two games.

More light will be shed on the contenders in another of the FVCC's "extended weekends," as the top clubs face tough foes. The most important contest to the conference chase takes place tonight, when Lourdes plays host to unbeaten Premontre.

Hard to Handle

Two games are set for each of the following three evenings. On Friday, Fond du Lac St. Mary Springs travels to Menasha St. Mary in a game to be played at St. Margaret Mary gym. In the other contest, Pennings invades Little Chute where the Dutchmen are always hard to handle at home.

Pennings will see action again on Saturday, this time at home against St. Mary, while Marinette Catholic Central entertains cross-town rival Marinette High in a non-conference battle.

Xavier gets its chance to get back on the winning track in conference play by entertaining St. John on Sunday evening, and

Last Pre-Holiday Game FVL Will Meet Concordia

Friday night when the Concordia High School Falcons of Milwaukee entertain Fox Valley Lutheran High, the Falcons will be battling two opponents, the Foxes and the flu bug.

So far this week the Missouri Synod school has the ranks of its cage squad badly depleted as seven of the top 14 men have been out. One of these, however, reserve John Hitzeroth, has been sidelined with a hand injury.

The chief Falcon offensive threat is Ron Schroeder who scored 27 points against University School. Last year Schroeder tallied only five points against FVL. His main helpers are rookie varsity men from the JV team. Mark and Paul Krueger are two JV grads who should help the varsity considerably this year. The Concordia quint is 1-2 in Midwest Conference play and 2-3 overall.

Coach Paul Naumann, last season's JV mentor, seems to have found a really exciting prospect from an unusual source, intramurals. Blake Wolf, a 6-5 senior who has never played in a varsity game, is Naumann's "sleeper." Wolf has been perfection personified from the free throw line, 10-10. In the last two games Wolf has scored 20 points.

Statistics from the FVL camp show the leading scorer to be forward Tim Johnson, 6-3 senior, who has tallied 41 points so far. Mark Bootz and Beck Goldbeck were in double figures in the Racine game, but both will have to be more consistent offensively if Johnson is to avoid being continually double-teamed. Bootz has been a very stabilizing influence on the Foxes floor game.

This will be the last game for the Foxes before the Christmas break.

New Bengals to Get 5 Choices From AFL Clubs

Picks Forthcoming At Florida Confab On January 15-16

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, pro football's newest expansion club, have not played a game, but they already have one victory scheduled with the expansion draft.

The Bengals will get five players from each of the American Football League teams, except Miami — a total of 40 players in the draft in Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 15-16.

Pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle announced Wednesday that the second annual combined college draft with the National League will start Jan. 30 in New York and Cincinnati will haul in 45 collegians.

The results represent an amended plan from that which was announced when Cincinnati was awarded its franchise. At first, the Bengals were to be stocked in the same manner as Miami, four veterans from each club and 37 picks in the college draft.

Persuaded

However, Cincinnati General Manager Coach Paul Brown, a veteran of the old All-American Conference and the NFL, pointed out that the New Orleans team of the NFL received 42 veterans and 37 draft picks.

The AFL owners then decided to give their sixth-round draft choices to Brown. Miami again expected, and a fifth man from their taxi squads.

The Bengals also will get the second and last choice in the first round of the draft, the first and last choice in succeeding rounds and the third pick in the second, third and fourth rounds.

In the stocking draft, each existing club will freeze 29 players of their 40-man squads listed for the opening games of 1967 — players cut or traded can be replaced — and Cincinnati can pick four of the remaining 11 players.

Unitas Landslide Winner for MVP

Only Three Other Players Get Votes in Annual Balloting

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Unitas, the veteran Baltimore Colts quarterback, has been named the 1967 "Most Valuable Player" in the National Football League by a landslide vote of an Associated Press panel.

Unitas, completing his 12th season in a rags-to-riches career, received 40 votes. Dave "Deacon" Jones, defensive end of the Los Angeles Rams, drew three and running backs Leroy Kelly of Cleveland and Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears each got two.

Starr Got Award

Although Unitas wasn't even mentioned last year when Bart Starr of Green Bay was voted the MVP and didn't even get a vote on the 1966 All-Star team, the 34-year-old recaptured his old magic this season.

Unitas' career was in danger last season when a damaged right shoulder threatened to put him on the sidelines permanently. Benched at one stage of the '66 campaign, he finished in an agony of pain and interceptions.

In training camp last summer, Unitas bled his arm and cut down to a limited number of practice throws once a day. He

WHY NOT LEAVE A GOOD THING ALONE?

Because nobody's perfect. And while we may be a little more perfect than other cars, we go right on making "the world's toughest car" a little bit better. Year after year.

While some cars are just now getting one stabilizing bar, Peugeot gets two. While some cars are getting 25,000 miles to a set of tires, Peugeot's Michelin X radial tires get a good 50,000. While some cars are getting better, safer steering units, Peugeot is getting the best: self-adjusting positive rack and pinion steering. And while some cars are gobbling gas like it's going out of style, Peugeot goes right on getting better than 25 miles to the gallon, with or without automatic transmission.

No. We just can't seem to keep our wrenches off the Peugeot . . . but maybe that explains why we have such a good thing going.

Week's Allied Losses Second Highest in War

New High Recorded in Civillian Deaths With Guerrilla Onslaughts

SAIGON (AP) — The Allied commands in South Vietnam announced casualty figures today showing that last week was one of the costliest of the year for their forces. And civilian deaths attributed to the enemy were the highest ever recorded. During only one other week this year was the allied military death toll higher.

The statistics underlined the war's present pattern: The guerrilla war of attrition continuing while isolated pitched battles in remote areas become less frequent but more intense.

The allied commands said 595 of their men were killed last week—380 South Vietnamese, 194 Americans and 21 Koreans and Australians.

Communist Deaths

South Vietnamese headquarters said 1,818 Communist troops were killed last week, about the average for the past several months. But it was nearly double the total reported the week before.

The highest total of allied dead this year was in one week of May, when 628 men were killed. Statistics are not accurate for such previous years as 1964 and 1965, when the South Vietnamese were sometimes losing whole battalions in bloody battles. However, last week's losses were certainly among the highest since that period, when the government's strength was at low ebb.

The military losses were paralleled by the highest recorded civilian toll of the war, 232 dead. This included 114 Montagnard villagers slain in the Viet Cong massacre at the village at Dak Son, but U.S. officials have estimated the death toll there probably was around 200.

Isolated Battles

The war communique today reported more isolated, deadly battles with little apparent pattern. There was fighting along the Cambodian frontier and in the northern provinces below the Demilitarized Zone, coupled with isolated Viet Cong assaults, shellings and the sabotage of a bridge on the Saigon-Dalat highway.

Battle reports listed continuing heavy Communist losses, 30 killed in one fight, 25 in another and 30 in another.

Holiday Halls

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said the South Vietnamese government would soon announce one-day cease-fires for Christmas and New Year's and a two-day truce during Tet, the Vietnamese lunar new year at the end of January.

The Viet Cong announced Nov. 18 that it would observe three-day cease-fires at Christmas and New Year's and a seven-day truce at Tet. Ky said the government announcement would come "in a few days."

Along the Cambodian border in the central highlands, high-altitude B52 bombers laid down a saturation rain about a mile from the frontier facing the American redoubt at Dak To, blasting at North Vietnamese infiltrators threatening American encampments in the vital region.

British Trade Status to be Set

BRUSSELS (AP) — The five Common Market countries that want Britain in their economic bloc decided today to bring the issue to a head with France at their meeting next Monday and Tuesday, a West German official said today.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt of West Germany and the foreign ministers of Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg made the decision at a breakfast meeting called by Brandt.

The West German official said the decision whether to start negotiations could go either way at next week's meeting of the Common Market council. But he said the five would insist on a decision.

The source said the five agreed that the decision must be unanimous. They did not question President Charles de Gaulle's right to a veto, he said.

Other Applications

He added that they also agreed the applications of Britain, Ireland, Denmark and Norway should remain a live issue even if the decision goes against negotiations—provided the applications still want to get in.

The officials said that if things reach that point, all concerned will have to consider what to do next.

De Gaulle has been trying to avoid discussing the applications altogether. This would skirt the possible necessity for a veto and the adverse reaction it is sure to arouse.

French officials said their position remains the same: That the six nations should discuss among themselves the consequences of British entry before making a decision on whether to open formal negotiations.

Rural-Urban Differences Education Funding Dispute Could Delay Legislative Adjournment

By JOHN BECKLER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight between urban and rural congressmen over federal school aid funds threatens to slow down Congress' rush to adjourn by week's end.

House and Senate conferees met until near midnight Wednesday in an effort to agree on a formula for funding the Elementary and Secondary Education Act but broke up in wide disagreement.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told the House earlier Congress could not adjourn without passing a bill extending the act. But unless agreement comes promptly today he is likely to run into heavy pressure to put it over until next year.

The school bill is one of three measures congressional leaders want to wrap up before the session ends, but it will take a firm hand to hold the homeward-bound legislators in Washington, past Friday.

Foreign Aid

The other two bills, appropriating funds for the foreign aid and antipoverty programs, moved forward Wednesday and should get another boost today.

A $2.3 billion foreign-aid bill agreed to by House and Senate conferees is expected to win quick approval in the House. And the Senate is expected to pass a $1.98 billion appropriation for the antipoverty program approved by its Appropriations Committee.

Although the House has voted only $1.6 billion for the antipoverty program, little difficulty is expected in reaching a compromise at about the $1.78 billion figure that Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity says he needs to continue the program at its present level of operations.

In the school bill conference, members from urban areas are quarreling with rural representatives over proposed changes in the formula for allocating funds that would increase the amounts going to rural areas at the expense of large Northern cities.

Funds Released

The problem arises because President Johnson, seeking to hold down federal spending budgeted only half the amount for the program that Congress authorized, making the existing formula inoperative.

Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the House conferees, said he thought the difficulty could be settled today. But other House members were less optimistic and two said no agreement could be reached in the next day or two. They also expressed doubt that members could be held in town any longer than this weekend.

The conferees did dispose of the Senate-backed elimination of a provision in the House bill that would have prevented the Health, Education and Welfare Department from deferring funds for new school programs in districts believed to be practicing racial discrimination.

Calls Heard For Hershey Resignation

House Democrats Ask Nullification Of Induction Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey's recommendation that local boards speedily induct Selective Service law violators has generated calls for his resignation from Capitol Hill.

Eight House Democrats issued a joint statement Wednesday asking Lt. Gen. Hershey to step down as Selective Service Director. They also urged President Johnson to reverse Hershey's Oct. 26 recommendation to local draft boards.

Hershey's position on draft law violators also drew a proposal for a legislative remedy from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who said "We simply cannot tolerate the existing situation."

Kennedy Opposed

In a Senate speech, Kennedy offered a bill that would prohibit use of induction to punish either legal or illegal protest activities. He said such legislation is needed because of widespread fear the draft will be used "as a tool to frighten potential anti-draft or antiwar demonstrators."

Kennedy acknowledged there's no chance for passage of his bill this session, which could wind up this week, but urged early action on it next session.

The eight congressmen said Hershey's continuation in office serves "a constant provocation to those Americans who view the contempt for the Constitution by an officer of the federal government as a reason and excuse for their own disregard for lawful political procedures."

Signing the statement were Reps. George Brown, Philip Burton and Don Edwards of California; John D. Dow, Benjamin S. Rosenthal and William F. Ryan of New York; John Conyers Jr. of Michigan, and Robert W. Kastenmeier of Wisconsin.

Smog Not Lung Cancer Cause

By BILL STALL Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Something about urban life makes death from lung cancer more common in the city than the country, but it's not smog, a team of state health scientists reports.

The conclusion was based on results of a nine-year study of almost 70,000 Californians.

"Although smog is known to have serious adverse health effects, it is not a causative factor in lung cancer," state Health Director Leslie Breslow told a news conference Wednesday.

Breslow reported the results of a study launched in 1958 to find out if California's smog may be a factor in the higher rate of lung cancer deaths in cities than in rural regions.

Although Los Angeles has the state's worst smog, the lung cancer death rate reported in the study was lower there than in either San Diego or San Francisco.

Cases Analyzed

Breslow teamed with Dr. John E. Dunn and Philip Buell to analyze the cases of 69,868 men. The researchers concentrated on those who had lived in the state for 15 to 20 years—the period in which smog became a major problem in Los Angeles and then in other metropolitan areas.

"We would expect an influence on lung cancer to show up about this time," Breslow said. But there was none, he reported.

Studies are continuing to find out why city residents are more likely to get lung cancer than their rural counterparts.

Problem Unsolved

"That problem remains unsolved," Breslow said.

Lung cancer may be a hazard of some occupations associated with urban life, but there is no substantial evidence of it yet, Breslow said.

In his report, Breslow distinguished between California smog—caused mostly by motor vehicle exhaust—and the sooty type common in the eastern United States and Europe.

Motor vehicle exhausts transformed photochemically by the sun's rays are blamed by pollution control officials for more than 80 per cent of Los Angeles County smog.

Pet Buck Gores AEC Employee

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — Bucky, a 200-pound buck and pet at a Los Alamos scientific laboratory technical area in a forest near here, unexpectedly gored an Atomic Energy Commission security officer.

Guard J. W. London, who shot Bucky to death during the animal's attack, was reported in good condition Wednesday at the Los Alamos Medical Center with injuries in the chest and leg.

Bucky was brought to Los Alamos two years ago from near Taos where he had been injured by a rope used by a family to keep him tied. After Bucky's recovery he remained near the technical area, wearing an orange collar and bell.

Stout Quintet Garners First WSUC Win

Lakeland, yet to taste defeat after four starts, defeated a stubborn Finnish national team 93-89.

Joel Hafner, who led the scoring with 28 points, tossed in a last minute basket to give La Crosse a 94-94 tie at the end of regulation play. Stout then proceeded to outscore the Indians 9-2 in the extra period. Hindeman led Stout with 24 points.

Stout is 1-2 in the WSUC while La Crosse is 1-1.

Cops Fourth Win

UWM used its fast break for its third victory in a row and its fourth in five starts. Terry Fredenberg led the Panthers with 27 points. Jerry McCleese had 17 for Dubuque, now 2-2.

Lakeland led the Finnish Olympic hopefuls by six to eight points for most of the first half which ended 50-42 for the Muskies. The visitors then rallied to stay within two to four points of Lakeland but could not forge in front.

Wayne Stewart of Lakeland and Jorna Pilkevaara of the losers tied for scoring honors with 31 points each.

Premontre welcomes St. Mary Springs into the Cadets' court in the final game slated.

Xavier's 85-60 defeat was stunning from two standpoints: 1) The fact the Hawks were beaten, and 2) the margin by which Xavier was defeated. More importantly, the loss may serve as a confidence-builder for opponents in future FVCC battles with Xavier.

Not Counted Out
But the champion Hawks should by no means be counted out of the title picture. Coach Gene "Torchy" Clark's outfit proved its ability to bounce back by toppling a good, quick Beaver Dam Wayland Academy team Wednesday night, 70-61, behind Pat Fitzgerald's 36 points.

Fitzgerald, who has 59 points in three conference games, currently heads FVCC scorers. His average of 19.6 is second best to co-leaders Steve Schuh and Dan Olsen of Pennings, who each possess 21.0 averages.

Premontre will be hoping that Lourdes' "luck" runs out tonight. Larry Van Alstine's Knights have won their two league starts by the narrowest of margins, 59-58, over St. John, 67-66 over St. Mary last week.

The Cadets and Knights are sure to see one streak come to an end. With Premontre's late 62-44 triumph over Marinette Catholic Central last Saturday, the Cadets ran their season winning streak to five games. Lourdes has an identical streak of five in a row.

Beat Southern Door
Pennings will be completing a busy week of basketball. The Squires kept warm with a 55-43 win over Southern Door in a non-league affair Tuesday night.

St. John will attempt to break a 7-year jinx with Xavier Sunday night. The Chufers have not won in 12 tries against the Hawks, including 68-67 and 75-57 decisions last year. The 68-67 tilt went into overtime.

Avitus Ripp's charges zipped past St. Mary Springs, 62-54, in their last start as "Oscar" Schuler netted 18 points. Jerry Verhagen, making his first start for St. John, impressed with 10 points.

Urges Pasarell Be Rated No. 1

Tennis Rankings Committee Picks Ashe Second

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico, whose history-making upset at Wimbledon shocked the tennis world, has been recommended for the No. 1 ranking in U.S. men's singles by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association's rankings committee.

The USLTA must approve the choice, announced Tuesday, at its annual meeting in February, but such approval is usually a formality.

Despite Pasarell's performance at Wimbledon—he beat defending champion Manuel Santa of Spain in the first round—his choice was somewhat of a surprise. He was ranked fourth a year ago.

Ranked behind Pasarell, 23, were: Arthur Ashe, Richmond Va., second; Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., third; Clark Graebner, Beachwood, Ohio, fourth; Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., fifth; Ron Holmberg, Highland Falls, N.Y., sixth; Stanley Smith, Pasadena, Calif., seventh; Allen Fox, Los Angeles, eighth; Eugene Scott, New York, ninth, and Robert Lutz, Los Angeles, 10th.

boards. Mike Clark and Jeff Bartosic each scored eight points for Xavier.

2 Score 12 Points

Ron Blomberg-coached Wayland had a couple of 12-point scorers to back up Cape. Pat Patterson, son of former Wisconsin star Ray Patterson, hit on six of 12 field attempts. Scott Lutzke made three baskets and was 6-for-6 from the foul line.

Xavier shot 41.6 per cent from the floor (32 of 77), while Wayland's accuracy mark was .375 (24 of 64). The Redmen, however, sank 13 of 15 free throws, while Xavier made only six of 17.

It was a wild offensive show for much of the first half, as the run-run school of basketball predominated. Wayland led by five points on three occasions (14-9, 18-13 and 22-17) in the first period.

The Redmen led for an uninterrupted span of 5 minutes, 47 seconds before Xavier pulled into a 26-all tie on Bartosic's rebound with 1:12 gone in the second period. Patterson's tip gave Wayland its last lead, 30-28.

Fitzgerald squared the count, at 30, with the first of six straight baskets in an unstoppable shooting display. Xavier's halftime lead was 42-38.

Fullerton's 3-point play at the outset of the third quarter boosted the Hawks' lead to seven. Wayland never got closer than five thereafter.

With its lead standing at 66-57, with about 5½ minutes left, Xavier went into an open-court offense. The visitors were unable to do much about getting the ball as the clock ticked away their victory hopes. Until Cape's long swisher at the buzzer, Wayland's only points in the final five minutes had been two Steve Blomberg free throws.

Two Clark free tosses closed Xavier's scoring with 2:35 left, since the Hawks missed all of their free throws — five — after that.

McCarver Best Regular

Davenport Top Glove Among NL Fielders

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim Davenport of the San Francisco Giants fielded more plays without an error last season than any other National League player.

The league's official 1967 records show Davenport took 137 fielding chances as a third baseman and 35 others at second — all without a flaw.

A total of 60 players, including 37 pitchers, had 1,000 fielding records last season, but none of them were regulars in any team's line-up. The best fielders among players who appeared in more than 100 games were Wes Parker, Woody Woodward, Clele Boyer, Bobby Wine, Tony Gonzalez and Tim McCarver.

Parker, the Los Angeles Dodgers' first baseman had an average of .996 after handling 985 chances in 112 games. Woodward handled 620 chances in 120 games as second baseman for the Atlanta Braves.

Clele Boyer took care of third base in 150 games for the Braves and had a .970 average after taking 471 plays, while Wine posted a .980 average as a shortstop for the Philadelphia Phils. He appeared in 134 games and handled 603 chances.

girls 8 and under (R. Savage, B. Weede, J. Martin and J. Rouman); 100-yard relay for boys 9 and 10 (D. Kimball, B. Pierre, J. Hewitt and J. Hackbarth); 200-yard relay for boys 11 and 12 (S. Rossmessl, P. Ciske, B. Reynolds and J. Cannon), and the 200-yard medley for girls 11 and 12 (A. Savage, M. Martin, J. Mendesohn and F. Connolly).

Gonzalez turned out to be the best fielding centerfielder after taking 272 chances in 143 games for the Phils. Meanwhile, McCarver handled 889 plays as catcher for the world champion St. Louis Cardinals and ran up a .997 average in 130 games.

Heard Hurlers

Milt Pappas and Ron Herbel were the best fielders among the pitchers. Pappas, who posted a 16-13 record for the Cincinnati Reds, handled 49 chances in 34 games without an error. Herbel made no errors in handling 48 chances in 42 games for the Giants. His won-lost record was 4-5.

Gonzalez had led the league's outfielders in 1962 and 1964, while both Parker and McCarver had the best averages for their positions in 1965.

GBW's Jerry Tagge (20 7) and North's Pat Matzdorf (20 5) are higher.

Another improving Terror, Mark Catlin, scored 11 against North and is averaging 7.5. The fifth Terror starter will be Mark Schroeder, who is developing steadily in the rebounding and defensive phases of play.

The Redmen, who can be dangerous, as shown by their win over Southwest, boast a trio of double-figure scorers. Charley Simon is averaging 17.3, Charley Kometer has a 13.8 pace, while Tom Ashworth owns an 11.3 FRVC mark.

Emanuel attributes his team's surprising performance to three factors: strong defensive play, good physical condition and the development of greater scoring balance. He said, "We must be realistic; we can't expect miracles. . . the players will still make mistakes." The coach added, though, that the three wins — particularly the great comeback against North — should give his team considerable confidence.

East's Patriots are paced by a pair of double-figure shooters: Tom Jones (15-point league average) and Blane Reichelt (12.3). Behind this forecourt duo are the three remaining regulars, with almost equal averaging: Gary Bleier (9.3), Rick Stach (9.0) and Bob Meyer (8.7).

Meyer blossomed into a top scorer in the South game, as he poured in his varsity career high of 15 points.

AHS-E, off to an impressive start (3-1, overall) despite the lack (to date) of a "home" court, finished strong to beat South in Sheboygan.

Terry Bestor, the conference's top scorer by total (90 in five games) and fifth best on average (18) leads the Fondy attack. Bob Bendrick (15) and Kim Evans (13.3) are other leading scoring threats.

Colts' Michaels Two Field Goals Shy of Record 12 in Row

NEW YORK (AP) — The 10 straight field goals kicked by Lou Michaels of Baltimore are two short of the record of 12 in the National Football League.

A check by the NFL office Wednesday revealed Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns kicked 12 straight in 1953 and was tied by Bobby Layne of Detroit in a lars, with almost equal averaging: Gary Bleier (9.3), Rick Stach (9.0) and Bob Meyer (8.7). Michaels had made only one of nine over a four-week span.

Has Highest Respect for Starr Kent Nix Returns to Lambeau Field With Mixed Emotions This Sunday

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Soft-spoken Kent Nix, a recent Packer, invades Lambeau Field Sunday with mixed emotions.

Quarterback Nix, now a Pittsburgh Steeler, will be doing his utmost, of course, to general the Pennsylvanians past the world champions in their regular season finale.

In working toward this objective, however, the fast developing Texas Christian alumnus will be competing with his idol, the Packers' Bryan Bartlett Starr, a man he freely credits with triggering his rapid rise to starting status in the National Football League.

Open at Controls
"Kent thinks that Starr is next to the Holy Ghost," Pittsburgh publicity director Ed Kiely confided via long distance telephone Tuesday in reporting that Nix, traded to the Steelers in August for a high draft choice, will open at the visitors' controls in Sunday's match.

"He says that Bart has helped him a lot," Kiely reported. "Kent says Starr would come over to the side, even during a game, and tell him why he had called certain plays, for example, he was a kind of counselor."

"And when Kent made his first start for the Steelers, Starr and his wife (Cherry) sent him a wire the day of the game wishing him well."

"Now he's coming back to Green Bay to operate against the guy he has deep respect for."

Little Experience
Although he had little game experience when he joined the Steelers, having toiled on the Pack's taxi squad throughout the 1966 season, Nix apparently has displaced incumbent Bill Nelsen as Pittsburgh's No. 1 quarterback.

"Kent has started in six games for us," Kiely informed, "and of the six, he should have a 3-3 record. He has 1-5. He put us ahead of Dallas with just a couple minutes to play, and we blew it, and he put us ahead of New York late in the game against the Giants here, and we blew that one."

"He should have had won both of those games — he should have 3-3 right now."

Nix, son of former Giant defensive back Emery Nix, has compiled some impressive statistics along the way. Owner of a 50 per cent passing efficiency record, he has completed 124 of 247 attempts for 1,515 yards and eight touchdowns.

Longest Effort
Kent, whose longest effort went for 66 yards, has been intercepted 18 times.

The mild-mannered Texan is one of five former Packers who will be sporting Pittsburgh livery here Sunday. Lloyd Voss, the Pack's No. 1 draft choice in 1964, is a starter at defensive end and Earl Gros, who detoured to the Steelers through Philadelphia, at fullback.

Dick Arndt, who opened the '67 season with the world champions, also is a swing man in Pitt's defensive line and Ralph Wenzel, a '66 Packer, is backing up starters Larry Gagner and Bruce Van Dyke at guard in Coach Bill Austin's offensive line.

Voss was dealt to Pittsburgh in the 1966 exchange which also sent tight end Tony Jeter to the Steelers, while Gros was traded to the Eagles, along with Jim Ringo, in 1964. He was acquired from Philadelphia prior to the '67 season.

Tells Retirement Huff's Violent World Due to End Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The violent world of Sam Huff will end Sunday.

The big linebacker, five times an All-National Football League selection, announced Tuesday that he will retire after the Washington Redskins' game with New Orleans.

"There comes a time in every athlete's life when he has to hang up his jersey," Huff emotionally told a news conference in a dressing room at D.C. Stadium "That time has come for me."

Before meeting reporters, Huff sat sobbing in front of his locker for 15 minutes. His teammates, filing in from practice, passed him silently.

For 4 Seasons
Huff has been with the Redskins for the past four seasons after eight eventful years with the New York Giants when his name became synonymous with the bone-crushing defensive play of the growing sport of professional football.

He was the subject of a television show, "The Violent World of Sam Huff," and was the subject of a cover story in Time Magazine. His duels with Jim Brown, the Cleveland Browns'

Fox Cities Program Friday Valley, Bay UW Centers Give Holiday Concerts

the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley and Green Bay Centers present their annual Christmas concerts.

The concert at Green Bay is at 8:15 tonight in the Music-Drama Room at the Center at 1567 Deckner Ave., Green Bay.

Friday at 8:15 p.m. For Fox Cities residents the Christmas concert is at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the Fine Arts Theater at the UW Fox Valley Center on Midway Road, Menasha. Both programs are open to the public without charge and an informal carol sing will be held in the Fox Valley's cafeteria after the concert.

Directed by Franklin Doverspike, Fox Valley Center assistant professor of music, the 47-voice combined choral group will present a formal concert for the first half of the program, swinging into a program of popular holiday songs and folk songs for the second portion of the program.

Arthur Cohrs, also a member of Fox Valley's music faculty, will accompany the singers. Alice Heyrman and Dan Larkin, both of the Green Bay Center, are soloists.

String Trio to Play Fox Valley Center's string trio, composed of violinists Carolyn Benson and Sandra Fisher and cellist Carla Schuurle, will play at intermission.

The eight numbers in the first part of the program include works by contemporary composers L. Stanley Glarum, Healy Willan, the "Ave Maria" of Rachmaninoff and an Appalachian Folk Carol arranged by Niles-Horton.

Polish and Czech folk tunes, Mel Tormé's "Christmas Song," Burt's "Caroling, Canning," Livingston-Evans' "Silver Bells" are among the melodies in the second half.

Patricia Weber, Appleton sophomore at UW Fox Valley Center, has done the stage design for the production.

Why Give Same Gift?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For shoppers tired of giving the same old gifts, something novel in the Christmas line goes on sale Saturday. An auction of 500 stolen articles is planned by the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department.

Hope Plays Santa on Yule Show

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-8:30 (Channel 5) — The Bob Hope Show is a wild and funny Christmas show with Hope as Santa. He lands his sleigh in the middle of a freeway where he meets an ambulance-chasing lawyer, a hippie who is also a little old lady, and a mean cop (Phil Silvers). The cop arrests Santa and jails him with Brains Galore (Wally Cox) and Big Lenny (Ernie Borgnine). Don Adams is the prosecuting attorney in the court scene, and Paul Lynde is the prison psychiatrist. Jerry Colonna, in his first appearance since his stroke, plays the judge. At the show's climax, Hope sings carols joined by the 50-voice International Children's Choir. (C)

6:30-7 (Channels 11-9) — Batman has a very funny show with Eartha Kitt purr-fectly cast as kitt-enish Catwoman. (C)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 5) — Daniel Boone has a good show with a piece of unusual casting. Urbane Lloyd Bochner plays — and very well — an Ottawa Indian. (C)

7:30-8 (Channels 11-9) — The Flying Nun is more serious than usual as Sally Field and a promising newcomer named Henry Jaglom carry the entire show. Sally is on an unscheduled rock-hunting expedition when she runs into a cave, and a young man and a landslide that traps them. (C)

7:30-8 (Channels 11-9) — Bewitched is much funnier than usual, as it introduces Hermione Baddeley as Elspeth, the perfect Cockney nanny. She is a witch, of course, who has been nanny for Samantha, and makes a Mary Poppins-like entrance here. She soon wins Darren's favor because of the way she stands up to Endora, but there is a problem. (C)

8-8:30 (Channels 11-9) — That Girl concludes its amusing twoparter, with Mario Thomas in Hollywood with photographer Gary Marshal, who falls in love with her. One of her problems: she may very well be falling in love with him. Another problem: the photographer's unorthodox ways. And still another problem — the big one: the jealousy (and he seems to have good reason)

8:30-9 (Channel 5) — Dragnet 1968 has a good look at the inner workings of the police department when an officer is accused of associating with a bookie, accepting a bribe, and failing to identify himself as a police officer when arrested. (C)
9-9:30 (Channels 11-9) — That Girl concludes its amusing twoparter, with Mario Thomas in Hollywood with photographer Gary Marshal, who falls in love with her. One of her problems: she may very well be falling in love with him. Another problem: the photographer's unorthodox ways. And still another problem — the big one: the jealousy (and he seems to have good reason)

Los Angeles Gets Electric Sedan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The City of Los Angeles has paid about $5,000 for an experimental, electric-powered sedan that can travel 60 miles an hour.

A spokesman for the Department of Water and Power, announcing the purchase Tuesday, said the car will be tested for its potential as a smog-free vehicle.

The car is a four-passenger Renault powered by 20 six-volt lead-cobalt acid batteries in the trunk and under the hood.

The five-passenger vehicle reportedly can be driven 70 to 120 miles between battery charges.

U. S. Says Yemen Gets Soviet Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says reports the Soviet Union has sent war planes and technicians to participate in Yemen's civil war are "substantially accurate" and warns such intervention "is only likely to increase tension in the region."
A department spokesman also indicated that reports Soviet pilots have been flying combat missions against rebel Royalist forces near San'a, Yemen's capital, are correct.
Latest information received by informed Washington officials is that the operational Yemeni republican air force includes 32 Ilyushin 28 bombers and 10 or 12 older MIG fighters. There have been recent reports that more advanced MIG models have been delivered.

Ask Jack Richardson about the advantages of doing business with the company that founded Mutual Life Insurance in America in 1835.

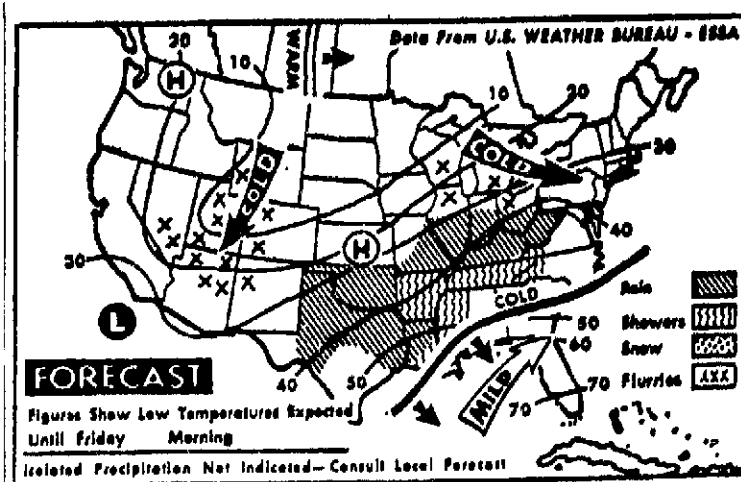

The company is New England Life—the company that's been paying dividends since 1848. The great thing about this dividend performance is the real break it's always given our policyholders on the net cost of their policies. And, of course, every policy has had guaranteed benefits built right into it—benefits which may be improved and increased and are made retroactive to older policies—the finest combination of guaranteed benefits money can buy.

Ask Jack Richardson about some of the other advantages of doing business with New England Life.

Official Further Explains Social Security Benefits

Frank M. Donnack, manager of the Appleton district Social Security office, recently commented on the benefits of Medicare and the apparent lack of public knowledge about the less-known services available.

"The Medicare law was passed over two years ago," he said, "and the program has been in actual operation for a year and a half. Nearly everyone understands that Medicare is really two programs — hospital insurance, designed primarily to take care of hospital costs; and supplementary medical insurance to help out on doctors' fees."

He added that comparatively few people are aware that home health services are covered under both the hospital and supplemental medical insurance programs.

Home health benefits include part-time nursing care, physical, occupational or speech therapy; services of home health aides (in connection with treatment); medical supplies, except drugs; use of medical appliances; and any of the above rehabilitation services outside the home which require equipment not available for the home.

Turkey Trot Outlawed In Utah Dance Halls

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Frugging, surring and doing the Monkey are acceptable in Weber County dance halls, but anyone caught doing the Turkey Trot or the Bunny Hug is violating a county ordinance.

County Attorney Jay Wilson said Wednesday a 1914 county ordinance imposes a $100 fine and/or 60 days in jail for "dance offenders."

The Grizzly Bear and the Texas Tommy also are outlawed.

Wilson found the old dance regulation during a study to update ordinances no longer practical.

Lutheran School Drops Chapel Requirement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Board of Regents at Capital University, a Lutheran school, has voted to abolish mandatory chapel attendance.
University President Harold Yochum said the move should give students "the opportunity to demonstrate a vital Christian commitment and a sense of personal responsibility by regular participation in worship programs on campus without the requirement of a specified number of attendance."

Student Arrested In Campus Blaze

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A

20-year-old University of Pennsylvania sophomore was arrested today on charges of starting a fraternity house fire that killed three persons last Sunday.
Policemen arrested the young man, Richard J. Noble, outside city hall as he reportedly was en route to surrender, with his lawyer, in the district attorney's office.
Noble, of Orofino, Idaho, was charged in a warrant issued Wednesday night with arson, murder and setting fire to personal property.

Barrel of Pennies Too Tempting for Youths

Garrett said he estimates about half of the $2,375 worth of pennies in the barrel were taken. Garrett kept the barrel in the garage of his home.

Social Security

12 Senators OK Bill, Start Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate unexpectedly passed the Social Security bill at the start of today's Senate session, then after an angry flareup, reconsidered its action and set a vote on passage for 11 a.m. Friday.

The passage meant opponents of welfare provisions in the bill had lost a chance to engage in a filibuster that might have prevented passage of the bill at this session of Congress or at least delayed adjournment beyond this week.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the deputy Democratic leader, maneuvered the bill to passage shortly after the Senate met with only a dozen senators present.

However, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield protested strongly that the rights of individual senators had been disregarded.

Mansfield said the bill had been passed and sent to the White House "like a flash of lightning" before he could get to the Senate chamber.

He asked unanimous consent to have approval of the bill reconsidered. Long objected, saying he had learned from experience that "if you have a filibuster on your hands, you better break it when you can."

Allows Motion
In the face of Mansfield's continuing appeals, however, Long said he was willing to have a motion entered to reconsider the vote by which the bill had been passed.

In doing so, he noted he would be in position at any time to table the motion to reconsider. Thus he would be able to cut off any filibuster since the motion would not be debatable.

Only after agreement was reached to vote at 11 a.m. Friday did he consent to have the passage of the bill rescinded and set for a second vote.

Mansfield told the Senate Long's action in getting the bill passed at the start of today's session was wholly within the rules and procedures of the Senate. But he said it raised serious questions as to the rights of individual senators.

Kennedy Opposed
Principal opposition to the welfare provisions had been voiced by Sens. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. Neither was on the floor at the time of passage.

The House okayed the compromise Wednesday on a 388-3 vote after a Senate-House conference committee restored welfare-lightening provisions. The Senate had previously voted to junk or liberalize these provisions as well as to raise Social Security cash benefits.

As passed by the House, the bill would raise benefits for all recipients by at least 13 percent. The monthly minimum would go from $44 to $55 and the maximum would go from $142 to $160.50. And a recipient with a wife 65 or over would get a 50 per cent increase in the basic payment.

Once the full effect of the bill is accomplished over several years, a retired couple could get as much as $323 a month.

$52.80 Increase
Social Security taxes also would go up, with a maximum increase of $52.80 year for those earning more than $6,600. The taxes would be upped the same amounts for employers and there would be additional increases for both in future years.

The increased benefits for 24 million Americans on Social Security rolls would be effective with checks received next March 3.

Kennedy and Harris contended in debate Wednesday that the proposed welfare limitations would mean some needy children and their parents would be denied aid. They said many mothers would be forced to put their children into day care centers and go to work.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Platoon Sgt. Hubert C. Carter of Milwaukee was killed in recent Vietnam action, the Defense Department has announced.

Military Crushes Rebellion by King

Constantine Flees; Army Is in Control

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's military regime crushed today the last remnants of a counter-coup led by King Constantine and began a roundup of suspected royalist officers and rightist politicians.

The king, stripped of his powers and replaced by a regent, Lt. Gen. George Zoiakakis, fled to Rome with his family. He made no immediate comment.

Col. George Papadopoulos, strong man of the military regime and new premier, announced in a broadcast that Lt. Gen. George Zoiakakis, undersecretary of national defense, had been installed as regent.

Papadopoulos later told reporters the constitutional monarchy would be preserved and the king had voluntarily surrendered his functions.

Papadopoulos said the military government knew nothing in advance of the king's intentions Wednesday when he broadcast an appeal to Greeks to oust the military government and restore freedom.

'Enlighten Him'
"And I admit that had we known of his plans we would have tried at the very last minute to enlighten him and prevent him from going astray," he added. "The whole action is inconceivable to us."

Greeks learned for the first time late in the day that their king had fled. Papadopoulos' news conference was broadcast by Athens radio reporting the royal family, Premier Constantine Kollias and some officers had flown secretly to Rome.

Less than 24 hours after Constantine called Wednesday on his people to revolt against the ruling colonels in Athens, troops and armored carriers that had ringed the junta headquarters in the Parliament building were removed. However, armed guards continued to stand out.

137 Years of Greek History

Monarchy, Plebiscite, Civil War

By ANDREW TORCHIA
Associated Press Writer

The Greek monarchy was born 137 years ago when the leading powers of Europe created it and made a foreigner king. For 15 of the years since, the monarchy was abolished, and King Constantine II is the fourth ruler to be ousted by a military coup.

Except for the first king, a Bavarian, all the Greek monarchs have been descendants of the Danish royal family. Constantine's wife, Anne-Marie, was a Danish princess before marriage.

Turks Ousted
Constantine and his family fled to Rome today, and the military dictatorship which took over Greece last April 21 named Lt. Gen. George Zoiakakis regent, the title usually given to someone who rules for an incapacitated monarch or for a minor until he is of age to assume the throne.

The Greek Royal Family arrives today in Rome in flight from Greece after the collapse of the king's attempted overthrow of the military government. Together are King Constantine, Queen Anne-Marie, Princess Alexia and Queen Mother Frederika. A regent has been installed in Athens. (AP Wirephoto)

The junta's appointment of a regent could mean it ostensibly is holding the throne for Constantine's seven-month-old son, Crown Prince Paul.

The Greek monarchy was launched in 1830 when the Ottoman Turks were ousted from Greece and the country became a protectorate of European powers.

The powers installed Otho, a young Bavarian prince, as king. An army coup in 1862 removed him and civil war followed. In a plebiscite, the Greeks chose Prince Alfred, a son of Queen Victoria of Britain, as their next king. But Russia and France objected, and young Prince William of Denmark was made King George I of Greece in 1863.

King George reigned for nearly 50 years until his assassination in 1913—the longest period of stability the monarchy has known. Constantine I, his son and a victorious general in a Balkan war the year before, succeeded him.

Public opposition to his pro-German views forced Constantine I to abdicate during World War I. A son, Alexander, was crowned but lived only three more years.

Constantine returned as king after a plebiscite, but a disastrous military campaign against Turkey led to an army coup that ousted him and raised George II, another son, to the throne.

Greek Republic
Still another coup followed. Plebiscites in 1924 and 1935 created and ended a Greek republic. Then George II returned, this time with rightist Gen. John Metaxas as his supporter and strongman.

Metaxas died fighting the Germans in World War II and the king went into exile. Resistance to the Nazis was left largely to Communists and other anti-monarchist groups.

After the war, sentiment against the return of King George grew among Greek leftists. Then a four-year civil war with the Communists broke out. In a plebiscite from which the Communists abstained, King George was invited back to the throne for the third time.

He died in 1947 and his brother Paul became king. Paul and Queen Frederika, a German princess who as Queen Mother is still disliked by some Greeks, survived a clash with Premier Constantine Caramanlis in 1963 over a royal trip to Britain. Caramanlis resigned when the king refused to cancel the visit because of demonstrations by Greek exiles.

A year later, Paul died after an operation for a stomach ulcer. His 23-year-old son, Constantine II, became the world's youngest reigning monarch.

German Reunification, Greek Problems Under NATO Study

BRUSSELS (AP) — Representatives of 15 allied nations pledged today to speed efforts for German reunification within a Europe made safer by security agreements with Russia.

Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization also ordered a special study of the military situation on their southeastern flank—the Mediterranean—where a big Soviet naval buildup is under way and where the latest Greek crisis threatens to split the alliance.

In a declaration on the future

tasks of their 19-year-old alliance the ministers undertook to speed work on practical measures of East-West arms affairs, "including the possibility of balanced force reductions" in Europe.

Their annual stocktaking session ended after key ministers managed in dramatic backstage consultations to head off full-scale discussions of the Greek crisis—a discussion that could have split NATO.

Postpone Issue
Denmark's Foreign Minister Hans Tabor was under domestic pressure to express his country's disapproval of the Greek military regime, but Foreign Secretary George Brown of Britain persuaded him to hold off raising the issue pending clarification of the situation in Athens.

Secretary-General Manlio Brosio said, however, that some muted expressions of concern were heard within the NATO Council. But he added most of the real discussion of the Greek crisis took place in conference corridors. NATO, by its rules, is bound to keep out of the internal affairs of its member states, he added.

But Brown reportedly assured Tabor that should the crisis call for special allied examination he might be prepared to associate Britain with any Danish move in this direction.

The military regime in Greece has been of constant concern to Socialist governments of the alliance, which take the view that it is following policies inconsistent with NATO aims and purposes. Both Denmark and Britain are under Socialist regimes.

The NATO treaty proclaims the determination of member governments "to safeguard the civilization of their peoples, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law."

Israel Presents 5-Year Plan for Arab Refugees

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel today proposed starting talks immediately with the Arab states on a five-year plan for resettling Arab refugees who have been a major source of Middle East tension for nearly two decades.

Israeli Ambassador Michael S. Comay made the proposal before the General Assembly's Special Political Committee.

"The goal of these consultations would be to negotiate a five-year plan for the rehabilitation of the refugees and their final integration into the economic life of the region," the Israeli envoy said.

"My government feels deeply that in the peace-making process, special attention should be given to the refugees, on simple humanitarian grounds."

Comay appealed to the Arab governments not to reject the Israeli offer "but ponder it well on the same human grounds that prompted it."

Israel has already proposed establishment of a compensation fund to provide land for the refugees, economic integration and compensation for property.

When the Security Council adopted its resolution last month setting guidelines for a lasting Middle East settlement, it stressed that one of the prime requirements was a solution to the refugee problem.

Possibly 1.5 million Arabs have been displaced by the two Palestine wars since Israel proclaimed its statehood.

Saigon Won't Talk To Viet Cong Alone

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government said today it would refuse to take part in a United Nations debate on Vietnam if the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front is asked to participate as a separate group.

A foreign office statement said the government would only participate in a debate including Vietnamese Communists if North Vietnam represented the Communist side. The statement said the National Liberation Front could be part of the North Vietnamese delegation.

Neither North Vietnam, South Vietnam nor the NLF are U.N. members, although South Vietnam has an observer.

The statement reiterated the South Vietnamese position that the NLF is directed by North Vietnam and that Saigon, as an elected government could not talk with it.

North Vietnam's position, recently reiterated, is that "the Vietnamese people have many times clearly stated that the United Nations has no right whatsoever to interfere in Vietnam."

It said recently President Johnson was trying to bring the Vietnam question before the United Nations "to cope with public opinion in the world and even in the United States, which has been sternly protesting the U.S. war of aggression."

Bear Creek Group Favors Merger

BEAR CREEK — A total of 44 Bear Creek residents joined forces Wednesday to form the Bear Creek Committee for Improved Educational Opportunities to fight for attachment to the Clintonville School District.

Though opposition to the present school system had been expressed in the past, this is the first time an official organization has been formed.

According to Nick Kruzicki, who was elected chairman, "our purpose is to officially represent the people interested in good education for their children and now we can do so with the help of an attorney."

At the present time an appeal to reverse the order of the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 8 school reorganization committee's order to dissolve the Bear Creek District and attach it to Clintonville by July 1, 1968, is in the Shawano Circuit Court.

Appeal Denied

A similar appeal by a Clintonville couple was turned down by the state board of appeals in November.

The number which turned out for the organizational meeting was exceptionally large and the group expressed optimism for the future.

Nursing Home Plans Asked For Elderly

County Authority Says Outagamie Facilities Essential

Future planning for the care of elderly citizens in nursing home-type facilities in Outagamie County has been termed essential by Dr. John G. Russo, superintendent and medical director for Riverview Sanatorium and geriatric hospital.

"Long range development requires that the future needs of the elderly citizens of Outagamie County be met," Dr. Russo said in his annual report on the institution. He added that "we are still concerned about the old section of our institution."

Renovating this part of the building is too costly, therefore, careful review of our future facilities is urgent."

He reported that in the last fiscal year, which ended June 30, the number of patient weeks in the geriatric hospital increased from 1,742 to 1,806. "The number of elderly patients with degenerative diseases is steadily increasing in our community" he said.

Costs Down

In the tuberculous sanatorium, the number of patient weeks nearly doubled last year, bringing the per capita cost down to $118.35, compared to the state average of $180.

A total of 24 patients with tuberculous were admitted to the sanatorium during the year with six of these being readmissions. Nearly half of the cases involved persons between the ages of 45 and 64. The admissions were evenly divided between men and women.

GOP Attacks Statements By Laird

marks, they drew a barrage of statements.

Republican chairman Ray C. Bliss of the Republican national committee said Laird hadn't discussed the plan to have a governor as one of the two vice chairmen of the platform committee with him. He added, "I wish Mr. Laird would learn that there is a chairman of the Republican national committee."

Rockefeller Contends

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who had clashed with Laird during the 1964 convention platform session, told newsmen Laird was wrong in even intimating that Nixon has the presidential nomination cinched and that Laird was wrong in thinking the governors have lost their leverage in the presidential dispute.

"What about the Republican delegation in Congress?" Rockefeller is reported to have countered. "Have they taken a position on a candidate? What business has Laird got talking about the governors?"

Although neither Sen. Dirksen nor House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan have given public endorsement of Laird's rejection of the governors' demand for a governor to be named co-chairman of the platform committee along with Dirksen, it is believed that neither Dirksen nor Ford want to give up the traditional congressional dominance in policy matters to the governors.

A peaceful solution to the problem is expected to come out of the meeting this week, with the understanding that appointment of the temporary chairman of the platform committee will not be made by Bliss until March.

A canvass of the area to obtain memberships will be made beginning today, with people being asked to sign a statement for promoting educational opportunities.

"There will be quite a few who will sign, but who do not wish to openly attend the meeting," Kruzicki said, adding that he himself could obtain 15 signatures from persons who, because of the nature of their business, did not wish to be known.

"I was actually amazed by the people of the village who are willing to stand up to the world and be counted," stated Norbert Kalinosky, supervising principal at the Bear Creek High School, who was elected recording secretary at the meeting.

Dues Assessed

To join the new organization, families will be asked to pay ceiling dues of $10 and single people, $5.

It was stressed, however, that if the person is unable to pay, their signatures will still be accepted.

"Our most important job right now is to keep before the people the idea of bettering their children's educational opportunities," Kalinosky said.

He did add, however, that this would be even more difficult than before because of a recently-passed bill in the State Senate granting state aids for the next two years to those districts which had received such aids during the past year.

"This doesn't change the picture of our crucial situation," Kalinosky said. "We might as well face the fact that there won't be any more students next year than there were this year because the enrollment has been decreasing each year," he added.

At the present time there are 79 students in the Bear Creek High School, and six full-time and two part-time teachers.

Note of Optimism

A note of optimism was also added when Kalinosky told the group that a great deal of credit has to be given to the Bear Creek School Board, led by Herbert Poppe, for its firm stand despite a great deal of pressure.

According to Kalinosky, the school board was called two weeks ago by a Shawano attorney representing the group which wants the school to remain in Bear Creek, to give their financial support for the appeal.

"But the board was strong enough to stand on their own two feet," Kalinosky added.

The Improved Action Committee now hopes to enter a "friends of the court" action with the state. They also hope to push for an early hearing of the current appeal case because teacher contracts must be let by March 15.

The third officer to be elected at the meeting was Marvin Wisniewski, treasurer.

Membership papers will be circulated by Gerald Ribman and Edward Ellenbecker in Bear Creek; by Nick and Larry Kruzicki in Deer Creek; by Wisniewski and Melvin Russ in the Bear Creek Township.

Lawrence Rocheller and Roger Paul were appointed to contact an attorney to represent the new group.

Outagamie Trustee Report Recovery Stressed in County Mental Hospital

The changing concept of county mental hospitals is reflected in the 1967 annual report of Outagamie County Hospital and Golden Age Home trustees, with greater stress being placed on rehabilitation of patients capable of recovery and return to their families.

The trustees noted that "county mental hospitals can no longer be considered a 'dumping ground' for mental patients from the state institutions."

During the fiscal year, which ended June 30, the county hospital had 37 admissions, of which only five were over the age of 65. Eighteen were under the age of 40, indicating more patients are being sent to the county hospital for initial treatment.

VTE-12 Plans Nine Courses Next Semester

District Takes Over Adult Study Program In New London Area

NEW LONDON — Nine courses, three for high school credit under the district's adult graduation plan, will be offered New London school district residents by the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12) beginning Jan. 15.

VTE-12 will take over operation of all adult and vocational programs from area schools at that time. In addition to the planned programs a list of 21 suggested classes for 1968 - 69 was presented to the board of education Monday.

Representatives of the local district scheduling classes with VTE-12 were Eugene Fuhrmann, J. N. Wells and M. A. Brunner.

Tentative plans are for class registrations from 7 to 9 p.m. Jan. 11 at the senior high school with classes starting Jan. 15.

With the exception of beginning sewing, the local district presently offers all of the courses that will be continued in January. Classes were offered by the district if adequate interest (usually 10 persons) was shown. VTE-12 classes will require 12 to 15 persons as a minimum depending on the aid to be received.

Registration Fees

Registration fees of $2, $7 and $12 will be paid to VTE-12 for the 10-week courses depending on aids received and the type of course.

Scheduled courses starting Jan. 15 are beginning sewing, beginning typing, key punch operation, welding, woodworking, agriculture, and high school credits in U.S. history, general mathematics and English.

The high school credit courses will be offered to adults working toward attaining enough credits to be graduated from the high school. Three adults have received diplomas since the program was started a year ago.

Bookkeeping, art, and general science are proposed to be added to the high school credit courses in the 1968-69 school term.

Other adult courses proposed are slide rule, psychology, public speaking, farm management, farm building, salesmanship, typing, bookkeeping, business correspondence, clothing, interior design, knitting, furniture refinishing, foods, electric, alternating and direct current electrical code, mechanical drafting, machine shop, welding, blueprint reading and small gasoline engine repair.

In March VTE-12 will survey the community to determine the program for September, 1968.

A resolution approving the application is necessary before the detailed 35-page presentation can be submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for acceptance. In June the city authorized $3,000 for its payment.

Claims Governors Dumped Romney

Laird Statements Draw Blasts From GOP's Rockefeller, Bliss

BY FRANCES S. MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Marshfield, opened up a veritable political Pandora's box during sessions of the Republican Coordinating Committee held Tuesday.

It started at an informal press conference when Laird came from a closed-door session of the committee to announce it had overwhelmingly endorsed his plan for a state sharing in federal income tax collections.

The subject of politics came and Laird charged that Republican governors had virtually lost their chance to have a presidential nominee named from their ranks because they had failed to support the Michigan governor when he told his blooper about being "brainwashed."

"The governors let Romney go down the drain," Laird said. He based his remark on polls in Wisconsin which originally indicated a popularity of Romney over all other candidates and now showed he had slipped behind former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The makeup of the future Republican platform committee at the national convention this summer was also discussed.

Laird said he did not think Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania should be named

Committee Formed for Land Use Funds; Water, Sewer Needs Survey Authorized by Board

CHILTON — Calumet County Federal agencies had been moved ahead with comprehensive planning on two levels — land use and water and sewer utility development — at Tuesday's county board session.

In all, three resolutions dealing with planning were adopted. One established county zoning-planning commission; another ordered the preparation of a comprehensive water and sewerage treatment plan, and a third authorized the hiring of two experts in the planning field.

Creation of a single committee to handle zoning and planning details is a requirement which must be met to qualify the county for federal funds under the 701 program. The county had been operating with a planning committee and a park commission, which also had jurisdiction over zoning matters. Both bodies will be incorporated into the newly formed commission, giving it 10 members.

The committee also is expected to take an active part in land use studies.

Develop Plan

The second resolution ordered the preparation of a comprehensive countywide plan for water and sewage treatment facilities. It would be funded in part by a Farmers Home Administration (FHA) grant.

FHA funds can be used to develop water and sewer plans and facilities in all areas with a rural complexion — towns, villages and cities with a population of under 5,500. In Calumet County this would cover all communities with the exception of the Appleton precinct.

Purposes of the plan are to encourage the development of sewage treatment facilities in small communities, thus reducing pollution of water. Potter is one of the county communities affected. It has sought FHA funds but the application has been held up because the county lacked an overall plan.

Learn Costs

The second expert approved by the resolution was an engineer to determine how much the water-sewer plan will cost.

Work on the plan will begin as soon as FHA funds become available. The work should be completed by Oct. 1, 1968.

FHA funds are expected to cover 75 per cent of the planning costs, and could cover even a greater share.

Hilbert Board Against Merger

Believes Joining Chilton, Stockbridge To Require Building

HILBERT — Village officials, with the exception of Clarence Stengel, Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 10 representative, who was absent, went on record disapproving of a three-district merger with Chilton and Stockbridge school districts.

All board members expressed opinions that the Chilton district at present met the state recommendations for enrollment; offered one subject less than Hilbert and carried a heavier debt load. Merging with the larger district, board members felt, would, in a few years, bring about an enrollment requiring the building of an additional high school.

Authorize Attendance

In accordance with the Wisconsin Resources Act, requiring all municipal water and sewage treatment plant operators to be certified by Jan. 1, 1969, the board approved the attendance of Ernest Pitzten at a six-week training program scheduled to begin in the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 in January.

The district will be the first in the state to offer the course two afternoons a week for six weeks. Pitzten was again appointed fire chief of the volunteer fire department, a post he has held for 16 years.

Fire protection contracts for portions of the towns of Woodville and Chilton were approved at the same $900 a year rate as last year. Approval is given at this time to allow the towns to include the funds in their budgets, although payment is not due until July.

Toy Drive

The drive to collect toys began in November and Jayette members have been sorting, cleaning and repairing them. Residents of Bethany Home and Riverview Nursing Home made dresses for the many dolls while male residents of both homes repaired and painted other toys.

Members of the Willing Workers 4-H Club collected and donated three large boxes of new toys, and the Sears store in Waupaca donated several new toys.

This is the first year that the Iola 4-H Club girls have participated in the program. Dozens of toys have been collected from the Iola area, and the girls will gift wrap them at the armory Thursday.

A cash donation was made by the Waupaca Jayettes as well as the Dayton Dame Homemakers Club. As their part of the program, senior Girl Scouts of

Koehler Tops CWC Scoring

Weyauwega at I-S.
Waupaca at Manawa.
Wittenberg at Amherst.

Having chalked up a hefty 23-point performance in his last appearance against Wittenberg, steady Chuck Koehler of the Iola-Scandinavia Thunderbirds appears on his way this week to a second consecutive Central Wisconsin Conference individual scoring championship.

Koehler, a 6-0 senior forward who has paced his team to a perfect 4-0 record in CW play, has now tallied 92 points—14 more than his nearest rival, Mike Sannes of Waupaca. Marion's Randy Peterson has moved into third place with 75 markers, and Wayne Skowen of I-S is fourth with 72.

Koehler will be looking to fatten his 23-point average Friday night, when coach Brian Zordel's T-Birds play host to winless Weyauwega as part of a 3-game CW slate. In other contests, co-second place-holding Waupaca has a road engagement with Manawa, and Wittenberg visits Amherst. Marion, 3-1 in the league along with Waupaca, draws a bye after nipping Weyauwega in overtime last week.

Seventh Loss

The Mustangs were, however, one of four league teams to see non-conference action Tuesday night. Marion wound up on the short end of a 71-59 score at Winneconne, while Amherst also suffered a 79-62 defeat at home against Nekosia. It was the Falcons' seventh straight loss.

On the plus side of the ledger, Iola-Scandinavia battled past Wautoma, 59-54, on the Thunderbirds' court and Wittenberg past Birnamwood on the road, 90-60. The two wins and two losses gave CW teams a combined record of 8-16, against non-conference competition this year.

Reviewing games last week, I-S toppled Wittenberg, 59-54, after trailing 28-25 at the half. A 24-14 edge in the third period turned the game around for the T-Birds. Skowen was held to just 10 points by the Wildcats' defense. I-S' Rick Smith hit 17 points, 15 on free throws.

Marion blew a 5-point lead going into the final quarter against Weyauwega and was forced into overtime before winning, 79-75. The game was tied at 69-all at the end of regulation time. Peterson hit 23 points for the Mustangs, who had three other players in double figures.

Waupaca grabbed a 45-23 cushion at the half and went on to romp over Amherst, 83-40. San-

Midyear Graduation Favored in New London

School Board Expected to Vote on Change In January; Eyes Informational Program

NEW LONDON — Midyear graduation in the 1968-69 school year was given tentative approval Monday by the board of education.

A formal proposal will be presented to the board at its January meeting by Supt. H. James Ramsdell. At present seniors may graduate only in the spring.

Ramsdell said a study would be made and recommendations for the split-graduation would be presented at the next board meeting. The first graduation under the program would not take place until January 1969.

Midyear graduation would be optional to eligible students. Students may choose to graduate at midyear if they have earned the required number of credits and received parental consent.

League Also Picks Officers, Plans Ice-Out Contest

SHIOCTON — The Business League again will sponsor a Christmas home decorating contest.

Four prizes will be awarded: first, $20; second, $15; third, $10; and fourth, $5.

Homes will be judged from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 27.

The league recently elected Clinton Tackman, president; Erwin Hoewisch, vice president; and Warren Andrews, secretary-treasurer. Elmer Johnson and Andy Thomas also were elected directors.

Plans were made to sponsor the annual "ice-out" contest, with Elmer Johnson, chairman, and Percy Braatz and Dale Nichols on the planning committee.

Cites Advantages

Those graduating at midyear would be able to enroll in college for the second semester, get a job to earn money for school the coming fall, attend vocational school or just get a job, Ramsdell said.

In other action, the board ruled favorably on a proposal for a short segment radio program to inform the public on various school activities.

The public forum type program would allow broader coverage of the school district situation, Ramsdell explained.

Programs would be taped and would have teachers, administrators and board members take part in a question and answer format. Some would be school arranged programs, while others would deal solely with questions coming from school district residents.

James Mergy, named to the board to replace Alfred Lau who resigned recently, was named to succeed Lau on the health committee.

Camper Line Unveiled

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Modern camping trailers, constructed by Trade Winds Co., Inc., Manawa, received their "first real exposure" in a large-scale promotion Wednesday afternoon as newsmen from major national magazines and newspapers viewed three models as a press showing at Tavern on the Green in Central Park.

The press showing was organized through Outboard Marine Corporation, new owner of Trade Winds and manufacturer of Johnson and Evinrude outboard motors.

This type of exposure to the publicity potential of New York was the first by a camper manufacturer, according to Tom Johnson, OMC promoter, and it was geared to show Trade Wind's answer to the new approach in the camping field.

To meet the new demand for convenient camping, OMC has hired designer Andrew T. Kostanecki, who had worked in the offices of the world's leading industrial designers, Henry Dreyfus and Eliot Noyes. He used the basic approach initiated by Carl Dretzke, president and general manager of Trade Winds, and his staff for the 1968 line.

million days by 40 million campers last year. The family-style camping boom, following the rise in boating interest, came in the early 1960's and is still on the sharp increase.

Newsmen at the New York showing included representatives of Life, True, Newsweek, Field & Stream, Look, Better Camping, Camping Industry (newly established trade magazine for the camping industry), Popular Mechanics, Camping

MANAWA — About 200 persons attended the party sponsored by the Waupaca County Association for Retarded Children on Monday night at the high school.

Bee's dropped two of three games to Skyway, while first half champion Golden Hour Lane breezed to a three-game sweep over the Unknowns. Golden Hour finished with a 29-13 record and Bee's with 27-15.

Wayne Sawall's 555 series paced Wieners Four to two wins over J & L and enable Boozin Buddies to grab sole possession of the Saturday Night Couples League with a 16-5 record.

Three Models Shown

Three models were displayed at the four-hour press show and luncheon. They were the Tahiti, lowest priced model; Continental, medium-priced two-man unit, and the Cascade, the luxury model.

New features, designed at Trade Winds, were seen in the Cascade, presently the most fully-equipped camper of the OMC line. The ideas were the full length, yet collapsible clothes "organizer" or hanger, the tip up galley with a four-burner stove, stainless steel sink, ice box and 9,000 BTU heater, and an in-doors or out-doors formica covered dinette set. The tip up galley allows the facilities on it to be used at a comfortable level.

Other innovations were the cartridge tape stereo unit and the vinyl moisture barrier at the areas where the canvas meets the metal.

VIP's in Vietnam

Senator Charles Percy's narrow escape from what well might have been serious wounds if not death near a Vietnamese village must bring up the question as to the wisdom of the various VIP trips to Vietnam.

A couple of weeks ago three American women, dispatched by President Johnson to find out how the pacification program was going, rode into another Vietnamese village which was being hastily booby trapped by American Marines who expected a Viet Cong attack. Communication was obviously so poor that they might have entered the village after the Marines had left and the huts were booby trapped for quite different visitors. And there is a constant stream of congressmen, senators, governors, even mayors to the battle areas.

Entirely aside from the safety concerns, the visitors are generally a headache to the men fighting the war, especially those who must see to their care, feeding, housing and transportation. Certainly a lot of us might like a first hand look at the war as long as we didn't have to stay too long. But we have serious doubts about how effective such visits are either in the conduct of the war or finding a way to end it. Exactly

Management at City Hall

If support for the city manager system of municipal administration is accepted as a test of progressivism, as some of its advocates tend to do, Wisconsin is lagging considerably behind the nation-at-large in the management of its typical city government.

For while the city manager system has had no strong following in Wisconsin in recent times, in the rest of the country the idea of professional and trained administrators as chief executives has been gaining adherents slowly but steadily.

We hold no special brief for the idea of replacing an elected mayor with a hired man. On the whole in Wisconsin we may suppose that the city manager plan has been less favored because there have been made available for its mayors' offices competent men and that the people of our cities have been able to select among them to the general satisfaction of the community. Thus there has been comparatively little in the way of mismanagement or impropriety in municipal administration

Court Support for Policemen

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller recently sentenced two men to jail for three months on a resisting arrest charge which was brought after they broke an arm of a deputy sheriff who arrested them for causing a disturbance at a local beer bar. There has been some criticism that the sentence was too stiff (they received an additional month for disorderly conduct).

It has been the policy of some other judges to levy fines — often stiff fines — in resisting arrest cases. Granted, the severity of the sentence should be determined by circumstances in the individual case. But, too often lawmen, be they policemen or game wardens, are injured — many times seriously — when the subject they have arrested or are questioning becomes violent.

Trip to Mosquito Hill
Rewarding Experience

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I had a rather interesting and certainly enjoyable experience last Tuesday afternoon and I would like to share some thoughts on this with your readers. Several of my advanced biology students and I took a ride to Mosquito Hill, the site of a proposed park in Outagamie County. We took Highway 54 toward New London. Along the way, we were treated to the sight of pheasant and deer.

Upon arriving at Mosquito Hill, we were greeted by several people who were interested in the park project. There came a real treat for we were what could the three women tell Americans about the pacification program, for instance, that we don't already know?

Visitors like Senator Percy of course have political motives. General Eisenhower undoubtedly increased his chances of nomination and then election by his promise to go to Korea and his subsequent tour there. But General Eisenhower was a military man who might be expected to have something of an expert's opinion on the military proceedings. Most of the current rash of visitors to Vietnam have had little high level experience with fighting a war. As Senator Percy said of the incident in Vietnam "This is closer to action than I got in three years of World War II."

If all the presidential candidates feel a visit to Vietnam is important to their political futures and to enable them to slug it out with President Johnson, who has been there, then perhaps a presidential aspirants tour could be arranged with equality for everyone.

Much has been said about finding a political rather than a military solution in Vietnam. The same goes for the election next year in the United States.

in our state that has often provided the fuel for the installation of city manager campaigns in other cities elsewhere.

The Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance in a current survey says that the manager-council version of city government is used in only 18 Wisconsin municipalities, out of more than 2,100 in the United States employing it.

Nearly 500 municipalities in the country have adopted the professional manager system in the last 10 years, but during that period no city or village in Wisconsin has done so. Curiously, in nearly 60 years since the manager idea was invented for municipal government, only 90 localities that have used it have dropped it, and 10 per cent of those were in Wisconsin.

Perhaps there is shown in that record that the virility of the democratic idea, the conviction that the people ought to choose the right men to govern them, and have the right to discharge them when they see fit to do so, is somewhat greater here than in other sections of the United States.

Sometimes the subjects involved are mental patients — persons who cannot be held responsible for their actions. These people are not punished with fines or jail sentences. Instead, the court has the responsibility to see to it that they receive special help, often at a state institution. But in many instances, the person who hurts the policeman is one who is drunk and or has a chip on his shoulder. Emotional disorder might excuse a person's striking a policeman. Too much to drink does not.

We support Judge Keller in his no-nonsense approach in dealing with those who intentionally injure policemen. The man who puts on a badge and gun today is making a big sacrifice. There are too few good men willing to make that sacrifice. They need backing, not beating.

Manchester Book on Assassination
Turns Out to be Year's Big Flop

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

The year's sales are closing now on William Manchester's "The Death of a President." Compared to the buying forecasts, the incredibly ballyhooed book turns out to be a resounding flop. In the publishing world it has descended from its claim of success with the quite thump and easy grace of an ox felling off a roof.

Taylor

Without the book clubs, the hard-cover take has been about 600,000. Harper & Row, like all reputable publishers, normally accept booksellers' returns of all unsold copies. Harper & Row limited the returns on Manchester's book to 10 per cent. Then bargain-sale offers caved in the roof. Next to the Bible, the all-time American most-sold book is Dr. Benjamin Spock's "The Common Sense Book of Baby and Child Care." It has sold 18 million since published in 1946. "Gone With The Wind" sold one million copies in the first six months.

Critics usually distrust a novel that has had an enormous sale. Each critic seems tempted to exclude a little more from the author's greatness than other critics excluded, thus displaying his superior critical determination — snobbish self-indulgence, essentially, which has little or nothing to do with literary values. "Gone With The Wind" was an exception.

Incidentally, Margaret Mitchell's original title was "Tomorrow Is Another Day." In the middle of a night she got up out of bed to change it. Fiction publishers, however, consider titles surprisingly unimportant. "Title it anything," they'll tell an author, "and if your book is good, don't worry."

That Margaret Mitchell never wrote another book seems completely understandable. Like Giuseppe di Lampedusa's great story of the Sicilian Prince, "The Leopard," his only book, hers was one of these books that require a lifetime — either in the writing or in the internal preparation. Last year's two top sellers were Norman F. Dacey's "How To Avoid Probate" ($75,000) that one introductory year, and Truman Capote's "In Cold Blood" ($30,000) in hard covers and without the clubs. Incredibly, in all forms our public and institutions now buy more than two billion books a year — 10 annually for

I hope the people of Outagamie County do their part in preserving this site that nature has so generously presented to all of us. A park such as the one proposed, with skiing, toboggan run, family picnic area, nature trails, wildlife area, camping, recreation area within a short drive of all of us, would certainly be an asset. Let your county board supervisor know that you are aware of this proposal. Only your participation and support will ensure the successful fulfillment of this urgently needed park proposal.

Implied Consent Bill
Arouses Controversy
Among Legislators

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Perhaps there has been no issue in legislative politics this term that has caused so much soul-searching among lawmakers as the "implied consent" bill to control drunken driving which is the heart of Gov. Knowles' anxiously promoted highway safety program

Wyngaard

Here is probably the best example of an issue that may trouble and perplex thoughtful and responsible men, on both sides of the question.

On the one hand there is the grisly fact that hundreds of persons are being killed on the public roads of the state each year. There is the scandalous evidence, attested to by enforcement officials, police statisticians and others, that the single most dangerous traffic safety problem is the driver who takes his vehicle to the public roads when he is under the influence of liquor

RIGHTS SEEN INFRINGED

On the other hand is the ingrained conviction of many men of good will and average education that there are constitutional infringements involved in requiring a man to take a test for intoxication — which is what the "implied consent" proposal would do obliquely by depriving him of his right to drive in the event that he declines to submit to the examination.

Among those rights are due process, the privilege against self-incrimination, the right to counsel, and the right to be free from unreasonable searches and seizures, as Sen. Alan J. Busby of West Allis, the respected chairman of the State Senate Judiciary Committee, noted in a strictly objective report on the legislative controversy to his home town newspaper.

As Sen. Busby observes also, however, there is apparently not yet a general realization that the United States Supreme Court has waved aside those objections to the implied consent plan in a California case sustaining a conviction for drunken driving and license revocation in spite of the raising of those constitutional liberties.

NO BAR TO PLAN

As the law stands today, therefore, there are no constitutional objections to the "implied consent" plan, and the courts are entitled to admit evidence obtained through such a requirement.

Yet habits of thought are sometimes slow to change. There are obvious reservations about the issue in the minds of some, respected and responsible legislators who are as disturbed by the highway accident ratio as is anyone else.

Many private citizens have had the same struggle of conscience on the question. Yet to an increasing number of them, the need for the removal of drunks from the roads has come to be a more serious one than adherence to traditional patterns of thought on personal liberty that have been abrogated by the highest court of the land in any event.

DRIVING IS PRIVILEGE

Sen. Busby might also have mentioned, and perhaps did not do so because he didn't see the need for quoting the obvious, that a person does not have a right to drive an automobile on the public highway to the possible peril of others. That such an act is a privilege, controlled explicitly by the state, is obvious on its face. A man who is deaf, or blind, or otherwise seriously disabled, is not eligible for a driving license. Nor is the mentally incompetent. What the implied consent fight is all about is the contention that the drunk is incompetent, at least temporarily, and that the public welfare considerations involve are so commanding that the state has the right to get him off the road.

Sen. Busby's committee is currently working on a refinement of the original bill. It will probably propose some modifications, including a new classification called "impaired driving," with less severe penalties for those drinkers found to have less than a dangerous content of alcohol in the blood. Such concessions may be required to get acceptance of one of the most controversial proposals of the times.

Many 'Voices' Heard

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In Friday's paper, Sidney J. Harris touched on the core of the rise in boating accidents when he stated that "90 per cent of all private accidents (on land, water, or air) are the consequence of personal error and public indifference." What concerned me was his feeling that "but except for the thin and lonely voice of the Coast Guard, no one is getting excited about the increasing manslaughter on our inland waters." Many of the Midwest states, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota and Indiana, have recently updated their boating laws; and from first-hand experience I know there have been many concerned "voices" here in Wisconsin.

In 1966 there were 245,000 motorboats registered in the state of Wisconsin and this figure does not represent the rowboats, the sailboats, or the out of state boats. The annual accident report by the Conservation Department showed 170 "reportable" accidents and caused the Law Enforcement Division of the Conservation Department to submit a Bill, 173 S, to the state Senate to update the boating law. As the representative for the Wisconsin water skiers who belong to the American Water Ski Association it was my privilege to attend both the hearing before the Senate Committee on Conservation and a subsequent hearing before the Conservation Department. The "voices" of the fisherman, the skindiver, the Wisconsin Water Ski Association, the Wisconsin Boating Association and the Outboard Boating Association were there to bring about the most effective revision of the law possible.

Bill 173 S has now passed and includes many fine additions to the boating law: better lighting requirements for all boats, no motorboats on small lakes 50 acres or less, life preservers for all occupants and water skiers; motorboats are required to stay at least 100 feet from docks, rafts, swimmers, divers, buoyed areas, anchored boats; water skiers now, as well as operators of boats are liable for negligent operation or intoxication; and operators under 12 must be accompanied by an experienced operator over 18.

Interestingly enough the 1966 Wisconsin Boating Accident Report pointed out Mr. Harris's words, "personal error and public indifference" by showing of the fatalities — 48 drownings and 2 heart attacks — only 4 people were wearing life preservers, 25 drownings by capsizing, 14 drownings by falls overboard; and of the 66 collisions most occurred on a clear day with good visibility.

So, Mr. Harris, here in Wisconsin there are many "voices" who have worked diligently and will continue to work for safe boating, but that will only come about as you say when an indifferent public, the real culprits, heed those "voices" and the safe boating laws provided for them.
